Beacon Hill Sees Pool Advocated

Ald. Macmillan Proposes Natural Water Swimming Tank for Citizens and Tourists

A warm-water swimming pool at Horeshoe Bay, on the Beacon Hill Park seashore, was proposed today by Ald. Robert Macmillan.

He said he will ask public works committee meeting next Thursday to authorize a survey of the bay and preparation of an estimate of cost.

The plan as envisioned calls for construction of a breakwater and gates enclosing the mouth of the bay. (See picture above.)

The water would be let in the gates and allowed to warm. Without the ever-changing tides, the water will remain comparatively warm, Ald. Macmillan said. Opening and closing of the gates would change the swimming water.

"Victoria does not have a single war water swimming beach," he stated.

For years there has been talk of improvements to Victoria's rock-strewn Dallas shoreline, but no action has been taken.

A preliminary survey of such a pool was made by the public works department about 10 years ago, according to Cyril Jones, city engineer.

It was a rough working plan, dated 1943, but there was no estimate of cost as council took no further action.

Two sketches were made, Mr. Jones said. One provided a pool by 180 by 180, the other for one of 160 feet by 140. Mouth of the bay is approximately 160 feet across.

"There is certainly no harm in ivestigating costs," said Ald. Macmillan.

The steep descent from the park path to Horseshoe Bay is a disadvantage but the area is a "natural" for an enclosed pool project if costs are not prohibitive, the alderman said.

He did not feel costs should be too high.

If the Horseshoe Bay plan is found not feasible, Ald. Macmillan suggests an alternate survey of Holland Point. He believes this area could be bulldozed out and a swimming pool installed.

"We are always talking about the tourist industry—well this is something for the tourist and resident alike," Ald. Macmillan said.

Eden, Bride Greeted By Cheering Thousands

Prime Minister Churchill Attends Brief Ceremony; 100 Police Hold Back Crowds

LONDON, Aug. 14 (AP)—Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden today married his boss's niece, 32-year-old Clarissa Spencer Churchill, in a brief civil ceremony. The handsome groom was all smiles.

Prime Minister Churchill was a witness as the 32-year-old daughter of his dead brother was united with his 55-year-old political heir apparent in London's Caxton Hall.

It was Eden's second marriage and his bride's first. Because of his divorce two years ago from the former Beatrice Beckett, today's ceremony could not be performed in the Church of England.

Eden drove to the hall with his elder brother, Sir Timothy Eden, through a cheering crowd estimated at some 2,000. The groom wore a blue lounge suit with a white carnation in his buttonhole. He waved and beamed as the spectators clapped and cheered.

Ten minutes later the bride arrived with her brother John. She wore a lilac taffeta dress with a dark, close-fitting hat and veil.

The 77-year-old prime minister arrived with his wife and walked slowly up the steps of the hall. Mrs. Churchill wore mauve.

None of the Royal family was present. British royalty doesn't attend the weddings of divorced persons.

The Prime Minister smiled affectionately and approvingly as the bride and the handsome diplomat signed documents completing the civil marriage.

It was all over within five minutes.

Outside Caxton Hall the sun shone brilliantly and thousands of spectators created the biggest traffic jam since the marriage of Elizabeth Taylor and actor Michael Wilding in the same room a few months ago.

Between lines of spectators rode mounted policemen. A hundred constables on foot joined hands to form a chain as Eden and his bride came down the red carpet to the front door a few minutes before noon.

The bride, in a lilac dress and wearing the smallest of lilac hats, posed demurely beside her husband for dozens of photographers.

The foreign secretary carried an "Anthony Eden" Homburg, a hat designed especially for him.

The two had known each other for years, and they have much in common. One interest they share is British foreign policy, which Eden has done much to shape in recent years.

During the Second World War, while Eden was running the Foreign Office, his bride worked in the department's communications section, decoding telegrams and confidential documents.

Both are descended from aristocratic, land-owning families. A baronetcy, held by his elder brother, was granted to the Eden family in the 17th century by Charles II.

The new Mrs. Eden is the daughter of the late Maj. John Spencer-Churchill, who died in 1947. Her mother, Lady Gwendeline Churchill, a daughter of the seventh baron of Bingdon, died in 1946.

Prime Minister Churchill dropped the hyphen from his name while a newspaper correspondent.

CANADIAN DOWNED, BELIEVED PRISONER BEHIND RED LINES

OTTAWA, Aug. 14 (CP)—A Canadian army officer flying an artillery observation plane was shot down two miles behind Communist lines in Korea Wednesday and apparently taken prisoner, defense headquarters reported today.

He is Capt. Joseph Michael Liston, 32, of Ottawa and Shilo, Man., a former Royal Air Force pilot who went to Korea two weeks ago as an artillery officer.

The army said he was seen to parachute after reporting by radio that the aircraft had been hit. An effort was made to rescue him by helicopter but it was driven back by enemy fire.

DRESSED HER IN FINERY

Man Who Preserved Body 8 Years, Dead

ZEPHYR HILLS, Fla., Aug. 14 (AP).—Dr. Karl Tanzler Von Cosel, 83, who so loved a woman that he kept her body for eight years and serenaded her nightly with organ music, is dead.

The circumstances of his passing were as dismal as his life with the corpse of beautiful Elena Mesa. His decomposing body was found in his house. Police said he had been dead three weeks.

The coroner said death resulted from natural causes for the eccentric X-ray technician.

Von Cosel received international publicity in 1940, when the body of Miss Mesa was found in the shack where he lived in Key West.

While he was working in a hospital he had met and fallen in love with the 19-year-old girl. She died of tuberculosis. He obtained permission from her family to build a vault for her in the city cemetery.

Eight years later, deputies found the girl's body in a canopied bed. It was dressed in a filmy negligee and adorned with jewels and there were fresh flowers in her hair. Von Cosel had a closet full of bridal finery in which he dressed his lost love.

He was charged with disturbing a grave and vandalism but the charges were dismissed.

Von Cosel told officers he had taken the girl's body from the tomb. He claimed that she sometimes came to life and talked with him.

He built an organ to serenade her and said he preserved her with chemicals he mixed in a vat.

The present resting place of Miss Mesa never was disclosed by the family. All members of her immediate family have since died of tuberculosis.

Three Known Dead in Fire At Guelph

GUELPH, Ont., Aug. 14 (BUP)—Three persons were known dead and at least 60 homeless today following an apartment-house fire that threatened for a time to wipe out a street in downtown Guelph.

Police said the victims of the $250,000 blaze were an elderly grandmother and her two grandchildren with whom she was baby-sitting while their suburbanite parents went out Wednesday night.

They were identified as Mrs. Eva McCullough, 65; seven-year-old David Nichol and his two-year-old sister, Bonnie.

The bodies were found by firemen checking through the still-smoking rubble of the Wolfond Apartments early this morning. Several other firemen among brigades that answered the alarm from stations here and at Kitchener, Rockwood and Acton, Ont., were knocked out by smoke and gas fumes and given first aid at the scene by hospital emergency crews.

The fire started shortly after 10.30 Wednesday night in an automobile repair shop and took two hours to control.

It spread quickly to a clothing and a hardware store and the apartments, and within a half hour appeared likely to destroy other buildings down the street and through the city's business section.

Labor Unions Enjoy Record Membership

OTTAWA, Aug. 14 (BUP)—Labor Minister Milton F. Gregg reported today that membership in Canadian trade unions reached an all-time high of 1,146,121 at the beginning of 1952.

Gregg said the figure represented an increase of 117,600 or 11.4 per cent over January 1, 1951.

The greatest number of union workers were members of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, an affiliate of the American Federation of Labor. On January 1, membership in the T.L.C. totaled 522,965.

The Canadian Congress of Labor, affiliated with the Congress of Industrial Organization in the United States, was in second place with 330,778 members. The other large labor body, the Canadian and Catholic Confederation of Labor, had 89,013 members.

STUDENT NURSE DIES ON DUTY IN VANCOUVER

Was to Have Dined At Parents' Party

VANCOUVER, Aug. 14 (CP)—Death cancelled plans for a family reunion when a pretty, 19-year-old student nurse died on duty only four hours before she was to attend a dinner party given in her honor by her parents from Trail.

The dark-haired young nurse, Frances Marie Lenarduzzi, one of the most brilliant in her class, slumped in a sitting position in the corner of a patient's room at 1.30 p.m. Wednesday and was pronounced dead by an interne a few minutes later.

CRIED OUT

She had been working with another nurse on the patient. Just as the other nurse walked out of the room, the patient cried out for her to come back.

The nurse returned immediately and found Miss Lenarduzzi collapsed in a sitting position on the floor propped up against corner walls. Doctors were called but it was too late to do anything.

A blood clot is believed to have caused the sudden death.

Miss Lenarduzzi and eight of her classmates were to have had dinner at 5 p.m. with the girl's parents.

ONLY DAUGHTER

The student nurse was born in Trail, the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Lenarduzzi. She graduated from high school with top marks. Since her arrival at St. Paul's Hospital last August, director of nursing Sister Columkille, said her marks ranged from 90 to 100 per cent.

"She was a lovely flower in our midst," commented the sister sadly.

The girl's body will be moved to Trail Friday for burial there. She will be buried in the nurse's uniform she had grown so proud of during the last year.

Socreds Hold 52 Seats in Alberta House

EDMONTON, Aug. 14 (CP)—The make-up of Alberta's next legislature was finally determined today—nine days after the provincial election—when the last doubtful seat reported.

A. M. Montemurro, Social Credit, was elected on the third count in Lac Ste. Anne, northwest of Edmonton. He defeated three candidates, including the member of the last House, A. V. Bourcier, who split with the government and ran as an independent Social Crediter.

The final party standing, with comparative figures for the 1948 election and at dissolution:

	1952	1948	Dissolution
S.C.	52	51	49
Lib.	4	2	3
C.C.F.	2	2	2
Ind.-S.C.	1	1	3
Ind.	-	1	-
Total	61	57	57

With 52 members, Premier E. C. Manning's Social Credit government will face the next legislature with more members than at any time since immediately after the party's first victory under the late William Aberhart in 1935. Then it had 56 members in a 63-member house.

ROBERT HOUSE SALE TO BE RECOMMENDED

Sale of Prince Robert House to a Victoria syndicate will be recommended to City Council later today by Ald. Arthur Dowell, chairman of the city's lands committee.

The syndicate, comprising Victoria business men, plans to demolish the building and erect a modern block of stores similar to Woodward's store here.

The offer is less than the $48,000 made by Woodward's store interests some time ago but is "close to it," according to Ald. Dowell, chairman of lands committee.

He would not divulge the exact sum.

Seven Killed In Latest Egypt Riots

CAIRO, Aug. 14 (Reuters)—Egyptian troops with tanks and armored cars today stood guard among the littered streets and burned-out ruins of the country's biggest cotton mill, ravaged Wednesday by strike riots.

At least seven persons were killed and 200 injured in the savage fighting, which Gen. Mohammed Naguib said was fomented by persons "in the pay of the old regime."

Premier Aly Maher has promised "merciless punishment" for the ringleaders. Five hundred persons are under arrest. They will be tried on the spot.

The outbreak was the first violence since Naguib and the army seized power July 23. His headquarters charged that "agitators" had infiltrated among the 30,000 workers in the mill area of Kafr El Dawar, near Alexandria, to "sabotage and disfigure the army's national movement."

ON STRIKT

The millworkers had been on strike for two days to protest against the dismissal of some employees "on political grounds." Wednesday they returned to the factory, ostensibly to work but in reality to await a signal which touched off a wild wave of machine-smashing and arson.

Almost 40,000 spindles and automatic looms were smashed and burned. Damage was estimated at more than $1,000,000.

Naguib reported early today that the situation was under control. Troops patrolled the streets of Alexandria.

WARNED

The Maher government, set up by Naguib after the coup, asked workers should give it a chance to introduce reforms, and warned them not to try to take affairs into their own hands.

Meanwhile, an increasing wave of complaints and proposals continued to flood in from pressure groups. The landlords' union protested against recently-announced rent-fixing plans, while the powerful Moslem brotherhood urged replacing the constitution with one based on the Koran.

WHEAT CROP MAY MAKE HISTORY

650,000,000 Bushel Harvest Possible

OTTAWA, Aug. 14 (CP)—Wheat fever is running high in government agricultural circles here. It likely will culminate in a historic Bureau of Statistics announcement on Friday.

Excitements mounts as thousands of reports from prairie farmers and elevator men pour into the bureau, indicating the prospects of a record wheat crop in Canad this year.

But what a record. At first there were indications the golden money crop may reach an unprecedented 600,000,000 bushels, a boost of 34,000,000 bushels over the previous high of 566,000,000 in 1928. This compared with last year's 562,00,000-bushel crop.

OPTIMISTIC

But now optimism is even more glowing. There's talk in the government back rooms of a 625,000,000-bushel crop or possibly even a 650,000,000-bushel harvest.

That of course would make agricultural history. But so far all the talk is unofficial. Friday, the bureau will go out on an official limb, and make its forecast of what the wheat crop will be.

At the same time, it will make an estimate of other principal field crops, such as oats, barley, rye and flaxseed, but the main centre of interest is in wheat, for wheat is one of Canada's leading export items and a mainstay of the country's economy.

BIG HEADACHE

The bureau's announcement likely will quicken the heart of many a Canadian, but it will mean a big headache for the country's transportation men.

For if it turns out that Canada has the biggest crop in history, it likely will mean another tremendous drive by Transport Controller Roy Milner and his staff to prevent a Great Lakes shipping bottleneck such as that which threatened Canada last year.

Second Man Is Missing

The raging, uncontrolled Burns Lake forest fire in the Cariboo region has claimed a fire fighter's life and another is reported missing.

Harold Gordon, 40, father of five children, was burned to death Wednesday night or early this morning, the B.C. Forest Service said today.

The missing man is tentatively identified as "Hunter."

It was the first fatality of the fire season.

Gordon apparently was trapped in the fire in the Tintagel area, 10 miles east of Burns Lake, when that section of the blaze became completely out of control and burned through a logging camp.

Seven men were missing for several hours, but five were located later unharmed.

Nearly 200 fire fighters are in the area. Today they are reorganizing for another attack on the blaze, which started Sunday and has developed into the province's worst forest fire of the year.

1,200 FIGHT FIRES

There are 148 reported fires in the province, 32 new ones since Wednesday. More than 1,200 men are fighting them.

At Kelowna, hundreds of persons thronged the beaches of Okanagan Lake Wednesday night to watch flames devour 1,500 acres of forest on Blue Grouse Mountain, eight miles away.

A 1,000-acre fire, meanwhile, continued to sweep ahead at Mosher Creek in the Bella Coola valley, inland about mid-way between Vancouver and Prince Rupert.

Forest rangers were maintaining a close aerial watch over the rugged area but reports indicated it would be impossible to battle the flames from the ground.

Author Dead

WEST CHESTER, Pa., Aug. 14 (AP).—Mark Sullivan, 78, nationally-known newspaper columnist, died of a heart attack Wednesday night in Chester County Hospital.

In the newspaper business for 64 years, Sullivan was the author of several books, including his own autobiography, and once served as editor of Collier's Magazine.

DROPPED HIS NOTES

Reporter Has Trouble Interviewing Nudists

By H. D. QUIGG

CONVENTION GLADE, Mays Landing, N.J., Aug. 14 (UP).—There's an election here today at the 21st annual convention of the American Sunbathing Association.

This is the darndest convention I ever covered. Newspaper men have to dress just like the delegates (Ouch, my sunburn!). This reporter is clothed—by request of the hosts—only in innocence, plus a pair of specs, a wrist watch, sandals, and a one-day growth of beard.

Thus, jaybird-naked, you get a new outlook on your work. Now, take this election, for instance. If that stunning redhead with the green eyes will stop staring at me, I'll tell you all about it.

Well, you see, this is the 21st annual convention of this nudist association, and 300 nudists from 30 states are here. There's a split in their ranks. There's one slate of officers headed by Dr. Istley Boone, the grandpappy of American nudism. And then there's the slate that wants the 73-year-old Boone ousted as sort of general director of the 3,500-member association.

NUDISM DIVIDED

Boone said if his side loses, there'll be "a divided American nudism." Naturally, nobody wants that to happen.

Boone met us newspaper men as we arrived. He's a pear-shaped man with flowing white hair and a plump-freckled tummy. He wore only brown horn-rimmed spectacles. That startled us. But soon there were so many undressed people moving through his office that we got used to it. His secretary, a middle-aged lady, wore only a snood and sandals.

But out in Sunshine Park, where the delegates gathered, there were acres of nude flesh, and there was the red-head from West Virginia, who's been staring at me. She was on the bathing pier, lying on a blanket. I walked right up to interview her and dropped my notebook. That's how I met her friend, a straw blonde who wore a blue bandanna around her curls.

WE BUMPED

I bent over to pick up the notebook, and she bent over to put down her blanket. We bumped.

"Pardon me," I said.

"That's okay," said the blonde.

"Why are you two nudists—why did you join up?" I asked.

"For my health," said the redhead, "I have to get sun where you couldn't if you wore clothes—right here on the lower lobe of my left lung. I just started social nudism last month."

You could tell, too, because her two-piece bathing suit had left two white patches.

"Me for health, too," said the blonde, "and oh, it feels so good not to have to wear clothes." She stretched. Then she added: "Except lipstick."

Funny, but I hadn't noticed. Both wore lipstick. They probably hadn't noticed that I wore glasses, either.

"It's funny," said the redhead, "you never even think about sex when you're in a nudist camp."

"You don't?" I said.

"Nope," said the blonde. "My hubby, who's here with me, always says, 'You look far quicker at a woman with a scanty bathing suit.'"

At this point, a colleague reporter, a bashful man, walked up and said to the redhead:

"Lady, you're a nudist, do you sleep in the raw too?"

"I do if it's warm," said the redhead. "Do you?"

"Yes, ma'am," said the reporter, blushing from head to foot.

B.C. LIQUOR LAWS 'NEED CHANGING'

No Encouragement to Drink Like Gentlemen Says Baptist Leader

"It is quite apparent that there is a need for a change in British Columbia's liquor system," a leading world temperance leader said here today.

Dr. T. G. Dunning, M.A., British Baptist leader and former head of the World Youth Movement, said the recent liquor plebiscite revealed that the majority of people in B.C. are dissatisfied with the existing liquor regulations.

He agreed that British Columbia's liquor system tended to encourage abuses—such as drinking in alleys, cars and hotel rooms.

"I can see that the system here does not encourage a person to drink like a gentleman," he said.

Dr. Dunning, who arrived in Victoria Wednesday, is on a tour of Canada and the United States. He will take over the office of general secretary of the Temperance Council of the Christian Churches on his return to England.

The friendly and outspoken Englishman said any legislation which tended to frustrate people did more harm than good.

"The Christian churches in England respect the wishes of the majority," he said. "We believe in democracy and if we want to change the minds of the people we employ educational methods instead of political force."

He added: "We are not here to dragoon, trick or buldgeon people into any moral position or habit," he said. "We believe in persuasion."

The temperance leader said, however, the churches in England had opposed the extension of liquor permits to restaurants.

"We were against it on the grounds that the existing license system permits enough public houses for those who wish to sit down and take their drinks," he said.

He explained that in England public houses and hotels are allowed to sell both spirits and beer.

"We felt that to permit all ordinary restaurants to have liquor licenses would result in introducing strong drinks to many young people who did not otherwise encounter them," he added.

ONE WOMAN'S DAY

By NANCY HODGES

HAGGIS AND CHIPS

LUNCHING WITH friends in a local restaurant the other day I overheard some Americans at a nearby table asking the waitress if there were not some typically British Columbia dish they could have. She thought for a moment and then said she "didn't know of anything specially B.C." to offer them.

I have often thought we should make more of our seafood opportunities, but local culinary imagination—in most of our restaurants, at any rate—doesn't seem to go much further than fried salmon, crab salad, usually made with canned crab, and oyster stew. Yet when I recall the dozens of different and delicious dishes made from seafoods in San Francisco restaurants, I wonder why we don't take a leaf out of their cookbooks.

HAGGIS FOR AYE

SPEAKING OF TYPICAL dishes, I see that one Scotswoman has taken steps to ensure the perpetuation of haggis, at least. She has just willed £1,000 to Edinburgh College of Domestic Science to carry on the tradition of Scottish cooking. The income from the money is to provide an annual prize for the best Scottish dish, and that dish whenever possible is to be haggis, she directed.

What intrigued me about her bequest is that a Scot should fear that, without some encouragement, the cult of haggis will die out. It sounds like treason to me, for I had long been under the impression that no Scot worthy of the name would dream of allowing a single day to pass without starting it on porridge—and none of your quick-cooking, sugary stuff, either—and ending it on haggis.

GONE SOFT, PERHAPS

CAN IT BE that the Scots, like other less hardy races, have gone soft in their eating habits? That the lure of the can-opener has overcome their national preference for the "great Chieftain o' the Pudden Race" and directed their digestions towards fare that is less taxing on the gastronomic processes?

I shudder to think of it. When I recall the wee bit nibbles I have had of haggis at various Scottish celebrations in the past, my Sassenach blood rejoices to know that at least one Scotswoman has done her best to preserve that particular "pudden" for posterity. What on earth would the Scottish societies substitute for it and its ritual, were it to disappear from the menu—the Stone of Scone, perhaps?

CAN-OPENER PLUS

APROPOS OF can-openers, I notice that somebody got a bargain in a super-duper specimen in a Cleveland, Ohio, department store the other day. A gold-plated one, studded with diamonds and rubies, believe it or not, was on display to boost the sale of some $3.95 can-openers.

Along came a customer who was handed the be-jewelled one by mistake. Now the store is appealing for its return. So far the appeal hasn't met with much success—but whether because the customer found the gadget surprisingly worked or because she thought it was cheap at the price isn't made clear. But I wouldn't mind betting that a can of baked beans wouldn't taste one whit better when opened with diamonds and rubies than with an ordinary one of dime store variety.

SMALLER PIES

TALKING OF FOOD reminds me, too, of the revelation made in the annual report of the American Can Company that the popular pie of today is eight inches across, instead of the nine-inch and even 10-inch size. The company's interest is by no means academic as it sells containers for mincemeat, pumpkin and other fillings, and has had to cut them down to fit.

As a purely disinterested observer. I am wondering who started the vogue of the smaller-sized pie. Is it another reflection of the current concentration on calorie content? Have the days of hefty wedges of pie gone into the discard along with many other signs of once-healthy appetites, and is this another manifestation of the girth control movement?

FISH AND CHIPS

WHILE ON THE subject of movements, another one which seems to growing in Victoria is an addiction to that popular English dish, fish and chips, judging by the number of shops devoted to its production springing up all over the place. Perhaps here is the answer to the tourist's prayer for something different, something that tastes of a bit of old England.

Who knows, it may not be long before our visitors will be joining us in the chorus of the old Cockney ditty:

"O, me taters and me 'ot fried fish;
You can 'ave a little if you wish;
You can 'ave it on a plate or on a dish,
Or just a little bit o' paper."

Gambling Czar Costello Will Enter Jail Friday

NEW YORK, Aug. 14 (UP).—Gambling czar Frank Costello is scheduled to change his address Friday from a fashionable Central Park West in Manhattan to a prison cell at Danbury, Conn.

Barring an 11th hour manoeuver, which appears unlikely, the fashionplate of the underworld will surrender to federal authorities at 10.30 a.m. Friday to begin an 18-month prison term for contempt of the United States Senate.

Costello's last chance to stay out of jail faded Wednesday in Washington. Supreme Court Justice Robert H. Jackson turned down his second request to remain free on $5,000 bail while he seeks a review of his case by the nation's highest court.

The term at the federal correctional institution at Danbury will be Costello's first stretch behind bars in 37 years. He served a short term for illegally carrying a gun in 1915.

Costello, identified by the Kefauver crime committee as the kingpin of a New York-Miami gambling axis, will don prison dungarees in place of the expensively-tailored suits which are his trademark.

He leaves behind the plush life of his New York City apartment and his suburban mansion at Sands Point, Long Island, where he has millionaires for neighbors. At Danbury he will have $10 a month to spend in the prison commissary where convicts can buy such items as cigarettes, shaving supplies and comic books.

The 61-year-old gamber will be eligible for parole in six months. He can continue to press his appeal while serving his sentence.

U.S. Attorney Myles J. Lane, who successfully prosecuted the notorious gambler, predicted that Jackson's ruling means the Supreme Court will refuse to review the case.

Mayor Claims 'Nothing Done' For Nanaimo

Premier Hears Island Problems

NANAIMO, Aug. 14—British Columbia's Social Credit government is a "free enterprise government that will listen to the people," Premier W. A. C. Bennett said at a Chamber of Commerce dinner here Wednesday night.

A guest at the dinner, he heard Mayor Earle C. Westwood charge that past governments definitely discriminated against Nanaimo.

"Not one major thing has been done for Nanaimo in the past 20 years," Mayor Westwood said. "Our highway north and south for a distance of 10 miles is deplorable."

The mayor also stated that no action had been taken on the Millstream bridge, promised a year ago.

MEMBER SPEAKS

Dr. Larry Giovando, Conservative M.L.A.-elect, promised Premier Bennett his support any time the premier came to the constituency in the interests of the people.

"I will do anything to keep free enterprise from slipping," Dr. Giovando said.

"We want to hear more," Premier Bennett said in reply to complaints. "Our government is not going to 'tell' the people, but is going to listen to the people."

He said his public works minister would look into conditions on the Island Highway entering and leaving Nanaimo.

Strange Lights Over Winnipeg

WINNIPEG, Aug. 14 (BUP).—Winnipeg was visited Wednesday night by a formation of mysterious lights in the sky, possibly flying saucers.

The Dominion Weather Office, city radio stations and newspapers reported receiving many calls from residents who saw the strange lights pass over the city three times.

The weather office said there was no immediate explanation. An official said the nearest thunderstorm was 200 miles east and "was the nearest source of light due to the weather."

Girl Recovering After Car Crash

Condition of Doreen Hepworth of 4265 Quadra Street was reported as satisfactory by Royal Jubilee Hospital today, following a two-car crash at Cedar Hill Crossroad and Blenkinsop Road in Saanich Wednesday night.

Cars involved were driven by Col. Reginald W. Braide, 1527 Despard Avenue, and Robert Bruce Skillings, 3366 Cedar Hill Road. The two men were unharmed, although Braide's late-model sedan was turned over in the accident and the top completely smashed in.

Miss Hepworth was a passenger in the Skillings' car.

COMPULSORY LICENSE FEE FOR U.S. VISITORS DRAWS PROTEST

HARRISON HOT SPRINGS, B.C., Aug. 14 (BUP)—A resolution condemning the practice of a compulsory license fee when U.S. visitors enter Canada with any sport fishing equipment was endorsed by executive officials of a prominent Canadian-American sportsmen's organization Wednesday.

Pacific Indians, meeting at Harrison Hot Springs, for the 44th annual three-day invitation trap shoot, labelled as "unjust and unfair" the law by which American visitors are made to pay a license fee to carry their fishing gear.

They called it "bad publicity" for Canada when border officials warned visitors they may bring their fishing equipment into this country but are liable to have it confiscated if stopped in Canada without a license.

The executives said many visitors come to this country with the sole intention of touring or visiting. They come in at one port of entry and plan to leave by another, so they can't leave their gear at the border to pick it up later.

They also urged immediate action on the part of government officials to rectify this situation.

Ike Rejects Invitation to Visit Truman

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14 (CP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower today rejected an invitation from President Truman to come to Washington next Tuesday for a confidential "briefing" on the international situation.

The general, Republican candidate for the presidency, sent Truman a wire from his Denver headquarters saying "It is my duty to remain free" to analyze Truman's policies publicly, and that it would be "unwise and result in confusion in the public mind" if he accepted the bid.

Eisenhower's Democratic opponent, Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois, was given a fill-in on world events Tuesday—and the general promptly criticized the move.

For one thing, he said it was using non-political military and government officials in a purely political campaign "in which they have no part."

The general did accept an offer by the President to make available to the Republican nominee secret weekly reports from the central intelligence agency. Presumably Stevenson also will receive those.

But Eisenhower said he wanted it understood that except in cases where U.S. security is involved, "possession of these reports will in no way limit my freedom to discuss or analyze foreign programs as my judgment dictates."

Stevenson had a chance to answer Eisenhower today. He and Vice-President Alben W. Barkley teamed up for addresses at the Illinois State Fair.

CAULIFLOWER DECORATIONS

CALAIS, France, Aug. 14 (BUP)—The supply officer of the ship Stella Polaris in Calais, France, encountered language difficulties when he ordered 500 decorative flowers to be sent from shore.

To his surprise, more than a ton of cauliflower was delivered aboard.

Reds Suffer Heavy Casualties In Futile Bunker Hill Assaults

SEOUL, Korea, Aug. 14 (AP).—United States marines beat back two fierce Communist attacks Wednesday night and today to retain their newly-won hold on Bunker Hill in Western Korea.

The battalion-sized Red assaults were the third and fourth futile attempts to recapture territory seized early Tuesday by the marines.

A United Nations briefing officer said Communist casualties were heavy. By mid-day, he said, dead enemy soldiers lay sprawled in groups on the scarred slope of the hill, only four miles east of Panmunjom, the truce-talks site.

Allied planes continued to hammer at Red positions today. The air force said they knocked out nine troop bunkers and three gun positions. Bone-tired marines huddled in their prefabricated timbered bunkers, awaiting new Red moves.

Red machine-gunners early today infiltrated the crest of nearby Siberia Hill—also captured Tuesday by the marines. But Allied troops silenced the guns in 15 minutes.

The Communists preceded their Wednesday-night assault on Bunker Hill with a three-hour artillery barrage.

SITE—Edd Chisholm, president of Chisholm Industries Ltd., has announced in Vancouver plans for an electronics industry on a 25-acre site just acquired by the firm in Port Moody.

Chisholm said plans for the project were on the drawing boards. The firm already is turning out electronic items for the national defense program as well as half of the radio-phonograph combinations sold in B.C.

URANIUM—In Darwin, Australia, F. J. Wise, northern territory administrator, announced today that a "very important" uranium deposit has been found in North Australia.

Three Darwin prospectors, he said, stumbled on the ore 130 miles south of the Rum Jungle uranium field, Australia's biggest known deposit.

Wise declared the area a temporary mining reserve. The prospectors will get a reward of up to £25,000 from the government if the deposit is of commercial value.

URGENT—The next president of the United States faces an urgent $5,000,000,000 tax decision as soon as he takes his oath of office.

The vague talk about possible future tax reductions coming out of both the Eisenhower and Stevenson campaign camps, strikes practical tax men in Washington as interesting but somewhat beside the point.

That's because a lot of taxes are due to go down sharply, starting at the end of next year, unless the President and the 83rd Congress act to keep them up. It will be up to the new chief executive to tell the lawmakers what he wants—which may or may not be what he gets.

'HATE AMERICA' TOM TOMS

U.S. Officials Fear Moscow Propaganda

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14 (UP)—American officials expressed fear today that Moscow's new "Hate America" propaganda campaign may so frighten the Russian people that they will become convinced this country is populated by a new race of barbarians.

The extraordinary virulence of the Soviet government's hate project has prompted deep concern among Secretary of State Dean Acheson, American Ambassador to Moscow George F. Kennan and other top-flight officials directly concerned with international affairs.

Their chilling fear is that a whole new generation of people behind the Iron Curtain is being taught that the United States, its people and institutions have blacker and more evil goals than Hitler Germany.

The Kremlin once harped on the theme that the U.S. government and not its people was responsible for devilish American acts. This shared the propaganda spotlight with general denunciations of capitalism everywhere. Now the American people generally are being attacked for supporting "barbaric" policies and actions.

Moscow recently told people under Communist domination that American troops in Korea have been "branding, bayoneting, raping, blinding, butchering, executing" and otherwise torturing Korean women and children. One account published by the Moscow newspaper Pravda (Truth) said U.S. soldiers forced wire through "women's noses" and led them through village streets.

Reasons Sought for Venomous Charges

American experts have failed to develop any one reason for the Kremlin's increasingly venomous charges against the United States. But these possibilities have been considered.

1. The Soviet government may be whipping up the Russian people for some new aggressive action. But intelligence reports show no indication of heavy Red troop movements in any part of the world. The plan could be a long-term one, but it does not appear to be geared to any timetable.

2. Perhaps the Soviet leaders are worried that their previous propaganda diets of "truth" are meeting an apathetic response by the Russian people.

3. The Kremlin leadership from Stalin down may feel an uneasiness regarding its support by the people. Fear of something worse than a dictatorship may be their aim.

4. The Soviet leaders may honestly feel the United States is planning a "preventive war" and plans an attack on the Soviet Union.

LIES 1,000 FEET UNDERGROUND

Rescue Party Races Time To Aid Injured Daredevil

PIERRE ST. MARTIN CAVERNS, France, Aug. 14 (UP) — A rescue party worked against time today to get medical aid to a 33-year-old cave explorer lying unconscious with a broken back 1,100 feet underground in the rugged Pyrenees Mountains.

A bone specialist was expected to arrive from Paris to assist Marcel Loubens, who plunged 120 feet onto a pile of jagged rubble when a cable lifting him from a rock platform inside one of the world's deepest caves snapped.

Louben, described as a daredevil, always had refused to carry life insurance because "I'm lucky."

Wednesday night a French doctor reached Loubens on a shaky metal ladder and reported by telephone later that "We're holding on. We are waiting."

The doctor's voice was heard faintly over the telephone line which was the only link between the injured man and the surface. Loubens' wife, vacationing nearby, wept when informed of what happened and said that "I had a premonition" of it.

She put her children in care of friends and headed for the cavern after telephoning Paris for the bone specialist.

Meanwhile a rescue party with medical supplies, a stretcher and portable radio equipment worked its way up the mountain slope toward the cave's entrance.

The leader of the cave expedition, Max Cosyns, also sent an urgent appeal to French authorities for a helicopter and a plane to bring serum to treat Loubens.

The scientists have been attempting to trace the course of an underground river and to gain other scientific information.

$100,000 LEGACY ENDS FLOOR-SCRUBBING CHORE

VANCOUVER, Aug. 14 (CP)—Mrs. Alice Johnson says she's through with scrubbing other people's floors.

The 50-year-old widow said today she had inherited an estate valued at $100,000 after the death of her sister in London recently. Mrs. Johnson is the only surviving member of the family.

Mrs. Johnson's husband was killed in the Russo-Finnish war and her mother and another sister were killed by a German bomb in London during the Second World War.

She worked for four years during the war in the North Vancouver shipyards. Later she did a shift as dispatcher for a fuel company and for the last four years has made a living by doing housework for other people.

Mrs. Johnson said she has no immediate plans on how to spend the $100,000. She will "take it easy" and try to gain "peace and rest."

Bordeaux Jail Rioters Said 'Unpunished'

MONTREAL, Aug. 14 (BUP)—Provincial police said today a riot staged two weeks ago at Bordeaux jail was organized by prisoners who "wanted some fun" and a newly-released prisoner said none of the organizers had been punished.

A police officer closely connected with the jail where the prisoners rioted for the second time since May 4 denied reports that the upheaval was prompted by bad food and unfair treatment of prisoners.

"It would seem that the prisoners rioted only to have some fun," the officer said.

The officer's statement was backed by a man who was freed from the heavily-damaged jail Sunday.

"Cause of the riot was not food, treatment of prisoners or 'bought' luxuries," he said. "It was the work of young punks in the trial ward who would have had a bingo every night if they could."

The former inmate, who declined use of his name, said toilets and cell locks were broken following the uprising in which prisoners ran amok and wrecked everything they could damage. He added that "despite the damage done during the riot, no disciplinary action has yet been taken against the prisoners."

Playground Kiddies To Entertain Elders

The 200 youngsters who registered for the six-week Rudd Park playground classes in the Burnside-Parkdale area will close their season with a program of entertainment tonight.

Under the direction of Mrs. Jean Shemilt, who is the supervisor, and her assistant, Karen Mowat, the children will entertain their friends and elders at the Irma Street park with a program which includes singing games, skits like "Toyshop," tumbling, rhythm band, handicraft displays and square dancing for the older ones.

The presentation of prizes will be a highlight of the show.

The many mothers who have assisted at the playground during the season will operate refreshment booths.

Former Canadian Bank Manager Admits Part in U.S. Visa Fraud

DETROIT, Aug. 14 (CP) — A former Windsor bank manager told a United States deportation hearing Wednesday that he helped "about 100" Canadian citizens to obtain U.S. visas by providing false bank asset statements in connection with their visa applications.

Roy H. F. McBride, former manager of a Windsor branch of the Provincial Bank of Canada, was testifying at the hearing of Everett E. Glassco, 25, formerly of Windsor. (Provincial Bank officials said McBride's connection with the bank was severed July 31.)

McBride said he provided the asset statements on the referrals of Mrs. Marguerite Prest, a Windsor public accountant.

(To obtain a U.S. visa an applicant must show a substantial bank balance or must be sponsored by a U.S. citizen who is willing to guarantee that, for five years, he will not become a public charge.)

Questioned about his connection with Glassco's visa application, the former bank official said that at Mrs. Prest's request he made out a statement attesting the man opened an account at the Provincial Bank in April, 1946, and made steady deposits until, last December 4 when the statement was issued, Glassco had a balance of $3,461.18.

The man's balance December 4 was $2.01, McBride said.

A note was placed on exhibit which read: "Will you give this chap a note to the effect that Everett E. Glassco, 1062 Cadillac, has an account, opened April, 1946, and with a balance of $3,461.18." It ended with the typewritten signature "Maggie."

McBride identified "Maggie" as Mrs. Prest and said that he had received similar notes from her and "knew what to do."

Mrs. Prest visited his office December 7 and paid him $5 for the note given to Glassco, the former bank official said. He identified a notation, "Paid, 12-7-51," as having been written by Mrs. Prest.

The Liberal Position

THE CHAOTIC POLITICAL SITUATION of British Columbia would be substantially clarified if the Liberal party would decide and announce its attitude toward the Bennett government.

Some time ago the elected Liberal members of the new legislature met privately here to consider their affairs, but no results were announced. We take it from this that no important decisions were made, that a House leader was not elected.

Perhaps it was too soon then to expect a shattered party to begin its recovery. But if the party is to recover, if indeed it is to make sure of survival as a significant force in provincial politics, it cannot delay much longer. For the schedule of events is not under its control. Only the government knows when it will meet the legislature and when it will call the next election. The Liberal party has much to do and probably little time.

The choice of a new leader, to succeed Mr. Byron Johnson, is the most important business before the party but it cannot be accomplished overnight. There still will have to be a convention, the construction of a platform and then the reorganization of the party organizations in the constituencies. Presumably there will have to be at the same time, or earlier, the appointment of a House leader since the party leader may well not be a member of the new legislature and may not enter it before another general election.

In the meantime, however, the elected Liberal members must decide their attitude toward the government in the legislature at a session which the government can call at any time and should call at a convenient and early date. Is the Liberal party to work for the maintenance of the government or for its destruction? That is the immediate question.

The Liberal group in the legislature, though small, may well hold the fate of the government in its hands. Even with the full support of the still smaller Conservative group the government cannot command a majority in the legislature. Since the C.C.F. will be against it from the start and may seek its quick defeat and another election the balance of power will rest with the Liberals on decisive votes. The Liberals, indeed, will be the fulcrum on which the immediate future will turn.

The government, no doubt, is greatly concerned with the Liberal attitude and probably will shape its own strategy accordingly. More important, the public is greatly concerned and its major interest lies in the maintenance of orderly government. British Columbia, we suppose, has no wish for the confusion and disruption of a snap election before provincial affairs have settled themselves. Certainly the Liberal party has no wish for such an election when its own affairs are in such disorder.

For these reasons it would be useful if the Liberal party could indicate that it is prepared to give the Bennett government reasonable support in the legislature, to maintain it as the only government presently available and thus to assure an orderly conduct of the public business during these difficult times.

The Liberals, of course, cannot agree in advance to support any policy which the government cares to introduce, and if it is wise the government, recognizing its own precarious minority position, will not introduce policies which it knows to be quite unacceptable to a majority of the legislature. But so long as the government acts with prudence and does not attempt drastic and controversial policies for ideological or mere political motives, the Liberal party can properly agree to maintain it in office for some time to come, can face the obvious fact that the government, while it has only a minority support in the legislature and in the country, has a wider support than any other party and that no acceptable alternative is now in sight.

Mr. Winch doubtless will reply that the C.C.F. is available but it is clearly not acceptable to the people as a whole for the election vote went overwhelmingly against Socialism.

For all these reasons Mr. Bennett should not be pushed into an early and unnecessary election, provided that he acts within the limitations of his present situation—that is to say, within the broad expression of the public's will.

Buffeted But Still Healthy

THE RETURN OF DR. SYNGMAN Rhee as president of South Korea by a large majority may have surprised many western observers, who had judged the man on his periodic diplomatic indiscretions and his recurrent disagreements with United Nations authorities.

Rhee no doubt has many faults. He appears to have little tact or discretion when it comes to working with his allies. He seems inclined to strike a pose regardless of ultimate effects. He seems at times even willing to endanger the allied fight against the over-all enemy, Communism, in order to further his personal or short-term advantages. He has these faults, and more.

But Rhee is at the same time a Korean symbol. He has become far greater as a symbol than as an individual, and in many cases it was for that symbol that the voters cast their ballots.

For most of his lifetime Rhee has fought for Korean independence. His enemies were the Japanese who dominated his country for generations. And it is as that focal point of Korean hopes that Rhee attracts the people. That he carries his will to independence even to the lengths of battling his allies on occasion did not deter his supporters. As, in a larger theatre, Churchill distilled the essence of the British will, Rhee concentrates the determination of the South Koreans.

Even U.N. military leaders who have suffered in contact with him admit that he is the only political leader in the country with whom they can deal. He only has the required public support, the tradition of patriotism to Korea blended with the occidental background that results from his education in the United States.

Rhee met his parliament head-on. He demanded presidential elections on a popular basis rather than appointment by the national legislative body, and he won. The ballot boxes more than confirmed his policy.

In the trans-Pacific view, Dr. Rhee at times exhibits authoritarian tendencies that would not endear him on this continent. But the situation in which he finds himself and his native land—on the brink of independence at long last from Japan, but threatened by another domination from the Communists in the north, currently occupied by many thousands of foreign troops commanded by a great western nation acting under orders of a world organization, and seeking amid the hardships of open warfare, Communist infiltration and an almost overwhelming refugee problem to keep the light of democracy burning—these are factors that must be taken into consideration when we judge his actions. We can only take the long view and say, that democracy in South Korea appears to be still in a healthy condition.

The West Combines

THE BENNETT GOVERNMENT IS acting wisely in its opposition to the drastic horizontal freight rate increases proposed by Canadian railways. It is satisfactory to hear from Attorney-General Bonner that British Columbia will combine with the prairie provinces in protecting the west from higher and discriminatory costs of transportation certain to affect the price of all goods.

The British Columbia government, it is to be assumed, does not deny that if the railways can show actual need they should receive higher rates. No one proposes to bankrupt the railways. But that need must be proved and only rates necessary to cover it should be granted by the Transport Board. Secondly, the west has the right to insist that any increase thus granted shall fall equally on the whole nation.

In the past when the Transport Board has granted a general rate increase its order has been fully enforced west of the Great Lakes and not east of them. In central Canada the railways have to meet the competition of the relatively cheap water transportation of the St. Lawrence system and of well-organized truck lines. In the west, especially on the prairies, where such competition is not a serious factor, the railways can enforce the highest rates that the law allows.

Hence the higher cost of moving goods west of the lakes and hence also the fact that the railways make far more money on western business than on eastern, at the cost of western people.

As a result of the Turgeon royal commission inquiry the Transport Board is now completing an equalization of freight rates, too long delayed. Yet at the very moment when the old discriminatory rate structure is being revised on a basis of equity the railways propose another horizontal rate increase which would reintroduce and exaggerate the old discrimination.

It is this aspect of the problem, we suppose, that the Bennett government intends to attack, in co-operation with other western governments. So far as British Columbia is concerned the issue involved is outside party politics. All parties will support Mr. Bennett in carrying forward the fight started long ago by his predecessors and all British Columbians will hope for his success.

Ridgway's Warning

GENERAL RIDGWAY MUST BE deeply disturbed by the affairs of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization in western Europe. Otherwise a military commander, not responsible for the policy decisions of the various partner governments, would never have entered a highly controversial debate to say that N.A.T.O. is falling short of its defense targets.

General Eisenhower's successor in Europe says he doubts that the western Allies can reach their goal of 50 divisions and 4,000 planes, set at the Lisbon conference last winter. More serious, he thinks is the deficiency in the construction of airfields, warehouses and other essential installations which form the foundation of a modern army.

A soldier who has no politics to play and no votes to consider, General Ridgway tells the free world, as many politicians do not care to tell it, that the danger of war is still as great as ever. He knows of "no reliable evidence" to suggest that the threat of aggression against the West has diminished but he does know that there are "serious inadequacies in several vital categories" of European defense.

There is the nubbin of the problem. Either the danger to Europe has subsided or the Lisbon plans are the minimum that N.A.T.O. can safely undertake. No doubt there are economic reasons which prevent Britain from fulfilling its entire commitments at Lisbon. There are no such reasons in the case of the United States and Canada, and no visible reason in the international situation to justify any relaxation of effort. General Ridgway is to be thanked for bringing the real facts to the attention of a public, both in Europe and America, which lately has shown disturbing signs of complacency.

LOOSE ENDS

Maniac at Large

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

ABOUT THIS TIME of year, when the city man, prostrate on the beach, is still attempting to imitate the colored races by tanning his skin, the wilderness man, the natural and basic Canadian, already is getting ready for the winter. He is not thinking of sun tan. He is thinking of another kind of heat. He is thinking of fuel.

Hutchison

The basic Canadian seldom knows the date of the month but by an animal instinct he is aware that autumn (if you will excuse me for mentioning the fact) is only a few weeks off and Christmas (oh, joyful thought) will arrive, as usual, before you have begun your shopping. There is little time left for the purchase of Yuletide gifts. There is less for the harvesting of the Yule log and winter wood supply.

THE MAN OF NATURE, therefore, is busy these days storing up heat against the cold. No city man can understand the labor, the pain and the joy of the woodpile which rises, stick by stick, at this season. No housewife who pays $10 or more for a cord of firewood can ever be persuaded that a hundred times that amount has gone into the cutting and splitting, that wood is a bargain at any price, far beyond the deserts of those who burn it in a city fireplace.

THE WOOD CUTTER knows the value of wood, not to be reckoned in the absurd symbol of money but only in the liquid coin of sweat, in the bank of physical labor, in the ledger of pain. He pauses from time to time, leaning on his axe or sledge hammer, and marvels at the monstrosity of an economic system which gladly pays two or three thousand dollars for an easily-made article like an automobile and yet grudges a few cents for a stick of material which nature has taken several hundred years to manufacture and man has cut with an infinity of toil.

HE CAN'T PAUSE long. He is haunted by the challenge of the log and the spectacle of the approaching winter, which already proclaims its secret march on all sides, in the crackling dry forest, in the fading ferns, the ripening cones, the thick night dew. The city man, prostrate on the beach and now almost Negroid in hue, may not know it, but little time is left.

Like all worthwhile and sane things the gathering of wood is a form of insanity. No man can do much of it without becoming a certifiable lunatic, as nature intended.

A wood cutter starts out sanely enough with a small woodshed and a discreet pile of fuel, sufficient to see him through the winter. Then gradually, insidiously and beyond his control his appetite increases, like the drunkard's.

SOON THE WOOD has outgrown the shed and the wood-miser is secreting piles of fuel, known only to himself, throughout the forest. There he gloats like Midas and, in his greed, grudges a single stick to his wife's stove—the stark madness of wood, beyond the cure or comprehension of the psychiatrist.

Why, not far from the lonely cabin where these words of confession are written, an eminent lawyer, perfectly sane in his office, respected before the courts, at this moment is wallowing in the lunacy of saw and mallet. He has piled up enough wood to last him for the rest of life, though he should live a century. Still he is not content. I can hear the whisper of his restless saw and the jingle of his steel wedges as he rears his woodpile ever higher, as he cunningly conceals it from his wife, as he stares at it with the glint of maniacal desire.

IN the winter he will stand sanely enough, to all appearances, before the highest courts of the land, but I know him for what he is, a madman. You may trust him with all your legal affairs, with your money and your honor, but within range of his axe your wood is never safe.

Even this writer, respectable, dull and sane as everyone knows him to be, is slightly demented once he gets axe in hand. This disease of the mind and body grows steadily worse and more violent as the physical strength to support it declines with the onset of old age.

Yet he still is not as crazy as the confirmed addict. He has only about five years' supply of wood ahead and only half a dozen secret caches, unknown to his family, a small margin of safety on the eve of autumn. He can still cut wood in moderation and, unlike the problem cutter, can take the stuff or leave it alone.

NEVERTHELESS, the haunting fear of famine always gnaws at the woodsman's mind and he can never rest peacefully when he knows that another dead tree has fallen, is cluttering up the forest floor and must be cut before it begins to rot and lose its quality.

To own a woodlot, therefore, is a heavy responsibility. The man who owns it will never be idle, bored or physically soft. He will never be baked a fashionable brown like the city beachcomber. He runs no risk of sanity.

Too Exclusive

New York Times

The Communists in general and the Russian and Chinese Communists in particular reject all humanitarian notions as products of a "bourgeois" society and place little value on individual lives except for their own political purposes.

What is even more to the point, they will not and dare not permit an impartial international investigation of anything, whether it be the conditions in their prison camps or the state of their armament, lest such an investigation explode their lies and hamper their progaganda, for which the gullible still fall. For the same reason they also reject foreign aid that might bring foreign "agents" in their midst.

The Red Cross, as one practical expression of the ethics of western civilization, will continue its humanitarian work wherever it is permitted to do so, but the Soviet stand at Toronto indicates that one-third of the human race will be excluded from it.

SUPERVISED VOTE

In a democracy the view of the majority is considered important.

The confidence of the carpenters in their leaders would be restored if they were given an opportunity in a government supervised vote, to accept the $1.90 per hour offered by the contractors. Many carpenters to whom I have spoken say they would be glad to accept this.

LIBELOUS CHARGE?

May I be excused for misinterpreting the tenor of Mr. L. J. Pepper's letter, wherein it appears that he champions the glory of God against human shortcomings.

He denies the inference, and states that he does not believe in his Creator. I hereby withdraw my charitable supposition, and apologize to him.

CHEAPER FOR LESS

The new hospital insurance deal offered by the Social Credit government springs from sound economics, and is designed to give relief to the majority of people who make no claims or spend little time in hospital.

In a letter to Mr. Sydney J. Smith, former chairman of the Hospital Insurance Inquiry Board, the writer suggested a lower premium for non-claimants. Mr. Smith replied: "I think you are on the right track in providing for a lighter premium for those who do not avail themselves of hospital services compared with those who do."

Consequently, it is difficult to understand the heated criticism of the new plan by former members of the Hospital Insurance Inquiry Board.

FOR OR AGAINST

A day or so ago we signed a petition circulating among residents of the Portage Inlet area against the proposed plans of the Royal Portage Parks Ltd. Our own signatures represent a protest not against the possible plans of this organization, but against the probable, ultimate outcome. As reported in your paper, the plans are being continually altered.

Since we live in the section to be affected, we believe we should have more definite information on which to base our thinking. We certainly will protest against a car race track. (By the way, the exhaust noises from such an affair would carry over much of Victoria, on a calm evening). We also will be against noisy amusement park contrivances, as roller coasters, etc.

But, on the other hand, possibly the plans do not call for such nuisances. We think the promoters should tell us definite details. Protesters might then become promoters, too. This information should be advanced, even before a rezoning application is considered.

If the program will be for Victoria's ultimate cultural advantage, we should all be for it. If it calls for race track, only—as many fear, and as the $100,000 incorporation figure would indicate—we do not want it in this section.

Coin of the Realm

The Times of London

FAMILIARITY breeds inattention and few people (outside Scotland) could tell for certain, without first fishing into their pockets or handbags, on which coin to find Britannia and on which the ship. Coins remain, with stamps, the works of art most regularly seen.

A lovely young queen gives the opportunity for what Dr. Sutherland, in his presidential address to the Royal Numismatic Society, called "a most noble coinage." The committee, set up under the presidency of the Duke of Edinburgh to advise the Royal Mint, has a diverse and distinguished membership and it will, no doubt, take note of what Dr. Sutherland had to say on the need, in his view, to revise conditions and relax conventions. Sympathy will go out to the committee, for it has embarked on a most complex task.

The gulf between the design of an artist on paper and what appears, after formidable technical processes, on a penny and a half-crown is almost as wide as that between an author and his work as it gets through on to a cinema screen. Tradition and practical considerations add to the labors of this unfortunate committee and to the difficulties of the queen herself.

The final choice lies with her and she has to decide whether to follow the practice of changing the direction of the head. If she does so her profile will face to the right, as did that of her great-grandfather. This custom, which Edward VIII, for whom no coins were struck, had decided to break with, is traditionally traced back to the preference of Charles II for turning his back on Cromwell.

The coins on which the new designs, fore and after, are shown may themselves be varied. Enemies of the florin are again in the field and, no less militant, champions of a hand-sized five-shilling piece (to improve on the old cartwheel) and of a smaller penny. Even those perennially optimistic diehards, the advocates of the decimal system, have not given up all hope of weaning the British away from their loyalty to an arithmetic that brings frowns to the brows of foreign visitors.

All in all, those responsible have their hands full. No one will wish to hurry them into rash decisions, especially when such forbidding precedents are recalled as the burst of ridicule that greeted one of the late Victorian effigies. They work in an age in which interest in good craftsmanship is keen and widespread and, if they can tell us how they are getting on, they can be sure of a friendly and critical audience.

The Lesser Evil In Iran

By JOSEPH and STEWART ALSOP
From Washington

THE DANGER IN IRAN is now rated "desperate" by the State Department. The danger is, of course, the capture of Iran by Iran's Communist-controlled Tudeh party, which would drastically alter the world balance of power in favor of the Soviet Union. The problem of dealing effectively with this danger is so immensely difficult that it has already split the American government from top to bottom, and threatens to cause an open break on Middle Eastern policy between the United States and Great Britain.

Joseph

In order to deal with the danger, the State Department has acutually proposed Anglo-American economic support for the regime of the Iranian Prime Minister, Mohammed Mossadegh, to the British Foreign Office. The British cabinet is now anxiously discussing this American proposal.

It goes without saying that the notion of supporting Mossadegh, the very symbol of Middle Eastern nationalism and hatred of Britain, is hardly welcome to the British. But what has happened very recently in Iran explains why the American proposal has been made.

Since the ignominious collapse of the short-lived regime of former Premier Ahmed Qavam a few weeks ago, the only remaining visible alternative to Mossadegh in Iran is a wrinkled old man with a long beard and a permanent grin, the Mullah Kashani.

Kashani wants to turn the Iranian clock back all the way to the 15th century, transforming Iran into a Moslem theocracy ruled by the Mullah Kashani. His chief instrument to this end is the Fedavan Islam, a "Murder Inc.", consisting of the slum-dwelling bully-boys and priestly assassins. But in order to gain power, Kashani is perfectly willing to ally himself with the Communist Tudeh party. He did just this when the Fedayan Islam and the Tudeh together rioted bloodily in the streets to force Qavam out of power.

After no more than four days in power Qavam fled for his life, and Mosssadegh came back. Instantly, Kashani took full credit for this outcome. He dictated his own election as President of the Iranian Parliament, and he is so powerful that Mossadegh is now in danger of becoming a mere captive of this ignorant and bloodthirsty old man.

This is the real reason for Mossadegh's demand for dictatorial powers and martial law. Mossadegh badly needs the means to control Kashani — and Kashani's Communist allies.

Kashani professes to be anti-Communist, but he often talks something very close to the straight Moscow line, as he did to one of these reporters in Iran last autumn. He says airily of the Communists, "I will chew them up and then swallow them and spit out the parts I don't want."

Stewart

Observers on the spot have do doubt at all that the Communists would ultimately do the swallowing.

The total economic collapse of the Mossadegh regime cannot be allowed to happen, simply because the alternative would almost certainly be a great deal worse than Mossadegh. Hence the proposal to the British.

The probable British reaction may be judged from the fact that British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden recently protested angrily to Secretary of State Dean Acheson against the American Point 4 program in Iran, on the grounds that the program strengthened the villainous Mossadegh. Moreover, the British have perfectly solid ground for complaint against past American policy.

But as things stand, there is surely logic in the American view that it is more important to keep Iran out of Soviet hands than to pay off old scores against Mossadegh.

Ups and Downs

By BRIAN TOBIN

"IT'S A SINKING AGE," said the Elevator Man, "we're living in. Things are being sunk that were never sunk before and in different places. Just the other day there was a news item about a tug that was being towed on a trailer, and it sank on land. It seems the paving gave way and the boat settled into a hole. And now cames another item that tells how an American lieutenant has been decorated for sinking a tank. The tank was crossing a frozen river in Korea last year when the officer directed artillery fire on it, cracked the ice around, and sank it. You might say he sank his tee-shot. But these are unusual sinkings. What the average man is interested in are the ordinary, day-to-day sinkings—his own. Going down!

Tobin

"One," said the Elevator Man, "of the most popular remarks for the last few years has been, 'I'm sunk.' It sums up the feelings of a lot of folks these days—the disappearance, gradual or sudden, beneath the waves of life, leaving just a bubble or two to mark the spot. Fortunately this kind of sinking is only temporary. A good meal, a stiff drink, a night's sleep, a little quiet meditation—any of these can act as a life preserver and get you off to a new start the next morning. Despondency after all is pretty shallow stuff to be sunk in. You can usually find your feet if you're used to standing on them. Mezzanine!

"You can easily," said the Elevator Man, "get sunk yourself in trying to sink someone else. That's what happened to that saleswoman, anyway. A friend asked her how she came to be fired. 'Well,' she said, 'I tried 20 dresses on a woman, and she complained, "I think I'd look nicer in something flowing." So I asked her why she didn't go jump in the river'."

British Group Forced Out of China

HONG KONG, Aug. 14 (Reuters) — Communist obstruction has forced the last representatives of the British Council, government-sponsored body for fostering cultural relations, to withdraw from China, it was learned today.

William Emslie, the council's regional director at Peiping, and British poet William Empson, who has been lecturing for the council at Peiping University since 1947, arrived here today from the mainland.

(A spokesman of the British Council in London said today "we are closing down in China because of the general difficulties including the supply of materials and replacement of staff.")

Poland now is the only Communist country to allow the British Council to distribute material about British life on its territory.

In fostering good relations with Britain in various overseas countries, the council arranges cultural exchanges and post-graduate scholarships in Britain.

Barrister, Promoter, David S. Tait Passes

A former Victoria barrister, David S. Tait, has died in Vancouver at age 75.

Mr. Tait passed away in St. Paul's Hospital Tuesday, shortly after being admitted for a heart condition.

He was a mining promoter and a former president of Privateer Mine Ltd.

Born in Brantford, Ont., he came west as a boy and received his early schooling in Victoria. His father was principal of Esquimalt High School and he himself turned to teaching after completing his schooling. He was principal at Rossland School at the age of 21.

He was admitted to the bar in 1908 and was later senior partner of the firm Tait and Marchant here.

In the 1930's Mr. Tait formed the syndicate which bought a group of mineral claims from prospectors in the Zeballos area. This syndicate later became Privateer Mine of which he was president until two years ago.

He is survived by his widow, Emily Margaret of Vancouver; a son, Robert J. Compton, of Yellowknife, Y.T.; a daughter, Shelagh Denise McConnell; three brothers and two sisters.

One brother is Ernest L. Tait, Victoria lawyer, and another is Dr. E. S. Tait, of Lake Cowichan.

Ceylon Supplies Russian Rubber

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14 (AP). —The free countries supplied Russia and Communist China with about 82,000 tons of natural rubber in the first half of 1952, the United States commerce department reported today.

Officials added that Britain was the chief supplier, shipping about 59,000 tons to Russia. American officials said this material undoubtedly could have been of some strategic value to the Communists in Korea and elsewhere.

Under a United Nations resolution of May, 1951, Communist China was branded an aggressor and an embargo was clamped on shipment of strategic goods to the Chinese.

Britain, Malaya and other countries have interpreted this embargo as applying to rubber and have stopped all shipments. But Ceylon, not a member of the U.N., was reported by the commerce department to have shipped almost all of China's imports this year.

Ohio ranks seventh in wheat production among states of the Union, producing about 42,000,000 bushels annually.

Old Saanich Road, With Bold, New Look, May Get New Name

A name for the Patricia Bay highway, as well as new names for separate parts of the old road, will be considered by the Saanich Council.

The council at a special meeting Wednesday decided that "East Saanich Road" can no longer apply to parts of the old highway, left "high and dry" by the new road to Patricia Bay.

The council discussed for some time the naming of the Patricia Bay highway, without decision.

"From the fines the police are collecting on the new stretch, we ought to call it Prosperity Lane," said Councillor L. H. Passmore.

The council decided to ask the engineering department to suggest names for the roads, after checking possible duplications with Victoria and other municipalities.

Canada Giving Britain $150,000,000 in Arms

Mutual Aid Pact Item, Says Howe; Other Vast Aid Projects Planned

OTTAWA, Aug. 14 (CP).—Production Minister Howe said today that Canada will provide the United Kingdom with about $150,000,000 worth of armament this year as a gift under mutual aid.

In addition, Canada is purchasing this year about $100,000,000 worth of defense equipment from British factories and providing about $70,000,000 in capital assistance to help some key U.K. defense plants establish in Canada.

All this is coming out of Canada's three-year $5,000,000,000 defense program which began April 1, 1951.

The current trend of placing defense orders in the U.K. is a departure from original defense planning, Mr. Howe said in an interview.

"We planned to place orders in Canada, and because of the Canada-United States standardization program, in the U.S.

"But we hold no Olympian detachment to Britain. We are sympathetic to her financial problems. We are trying wherever possible outside the Canada-U.S. standardization program to place defense orders in that country.

"But we must be given an even break on price and we must be assured of speedy delivery. Given that break, we would rather spend pounds than dollars."

Yet in the long run, Britain would have to pull herself out of her financial troubles, said Mr. Howe, who holds the ministerial portfolio of trade as well as defense production.

"No one can really get a country out of financial difficulties unless it is that country itself. Britain must make more goods and sell more goods, particularly to the dollar countries of Canada and the United States.

"We will do almost anything to help—that's our policy. British firms who have tackled this market are doing well. Canada is the greatest market in the world for machine tools, for example. All British firms have to do is to go out and sell it here. We'll do the buying."

NOT OLYMPIAN

Canada recently was criticized by the Manchester Guardian, an influential British newspaper, for having little thought for Britain's financial problems and for maintaining an "Olympian detachment" toward Britain.

That wasn't so, Mr. Howe said. To help Britain save defense dollars, Canada, this year, was producing 350 F-86 Jet airframes free for the U.K. and supplying her free with radar and other equipment to the tune of $150,000,000.

The defense orders either placed or to be placed in Britain this year include about $20,000,000 for a light aircraft carrier, $25,000,000 for Centurion tanks, $22,000,000 for aircraft engines, $5,000,000 for radar and $8,000,000 for special machine tools.

MOSCOW WOOS IRAN; OFFERS PEACE, TRADE

LONDON, Aug. 14 (Reuters)—Moscow radio, in Iranian-language transmissions beamed into Iran by day and night, is subtly plugging the theme, "your salvation lies in friendship with Russia."

The same line comes in radio transmissions from the powerful Russian radio station at Baku, oil city only 150 miles north of the Iranian border.

The inference from the radio programs over the last few weeks is that Iran's current troubles are the legacy of the "imperialists," who, deprived of their "spoils" by the nationalization of the oil industry last year, will try to hamper in every way Iran's development.

Russian broadcasts in Iranian build up a picture of idyllic conditions in the Soviet Asian republics. They stress the "peace" policy of the Soviet government and its generosity in the matter of trade—including food supplies—with the "people's democracies", and other "democratic" countries.

There is no doubt that the present Iranian situation is potentially revolutionary in the eyes of the Kremlin and of orthodox Marxists: in other words, the possibility arises that a coup by strong, determined forces might unseat the government of Mossadegh and give the country a different political alignment.

The Russians also may not have ruled out the possibility that Mossadegh might himself turn to the Soviets for aid.

Youth Buys Train Ticket But Likes Coach Roof Better

EDMONTON, Aug. 14 (CP)—Canadian Pacific Railway police were stumped when it came to dealing with the case of a 20-year-old youth who bought a ticket on a train from Edmonton to Calgary and spent the trip scampering along the top of the cars.

The train was stopped at Ponoka, 60 miles south of Edmonton, but R.C.M.P. just shook their heads and declined to arrest him.

The youth was well dressed and did not appear to have been drinking. C.P.R. police took him off the train at Calgary but officials said today that no action will be taken against the man.

PEEVED SCRIBE TRIES TO CONFUSE ANGLERS

There is a red face in the Times Sports Department.

It belongs to the person who wrote the story dealing with regulations governing the Victoria-Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association ladder derby fishoff one week from this Sunday.

The story said that no rods over six feet in length would be permitted in the fishoff. What it should have said was no rods under six feet in length will be allowed.

Perhaps the mistake stemmed from the fact that the writer was unable to qualify for the ladder.

IT'S MY VIEW

By BILL WALKER, Sports Editor

The unpredictable Victoria Shamrocks have gone and done it again. . . . They beat Vancouver the team that is supposed to give them the most trouble and yet . . . yet, they could have wrapped up the Intercity League championship days ago if they didn't go "doggo" every time Nanaimo Native Sons hove in sight. . . . Most successful teams use the time-tested adage of knocking off the cripples. . . . Not the Shamrocks . . . they're like the Yankees of baseball . . . they knock off the closest opposition. . . .

The league finish may be close and right at the moment the league executive isn't certain of what happens in case of a tie . . . a special meeting has been called Monday to discuss the question whether the team with the highest number of goals scored or the club with the best goal average would take precedence in the case of a point tie. . . . At any rate, if the Irish win the league title, and they could assist the league executive no end this Friday at Vancouver when they meet North Shore Indians, the first game of the semifinal playoffs will be held at Memorial Arena Friday, Aug. 29. . . . Depending on who the opposition will be, games will alternate with Memorial Arena contests tentatively scheduled for Sept. 5 and 10. . . .

Walker

...le Jim Hetherington, Shamrocks' goalie, has been sli... overlooked this year, the only press notices he receives, are seemingly the bad ones. . . . However, Jim deserves a little more than that and a close check of league statistics reveals that Jim is just the guy who can walk off with the league goaltending award. . . . And herein may be the key to the Rocks' playoff hopes. . . .

★ ★ ★

What you read elsewhere: Les Hickey and Walt Atanas of the 1951-52 Cougars will do their hockey playing for Vancouver this coming season. From Cougars' Fred Hutchinson: "No comment." . . . (P.S. Fred is finding it increasingly difficult to find golf opponents at Colwood . . . and no wonder. . . . Five straight times under 100, he plays to a 33 handicap).

★ ★ ★

Social Note: Mrs. A. K. Snell, member of Alberta's interprovincial women's golf team is the former city tennis champion, Mildred Phillipson. . . . She won the Alberta title three years ago. . . . A note in the mail from Shirley Fry says the Gorge Vale miss played badly the first day but picked up later . . . also, Shirl picks the Canadians to beat the Americans in the Open at Edmonton. . . . Coaches announced in the Western Hockey League (the name is official) to date are Bud Poile at Edmonton, Hank Blade at Calgary, Art Chapman at Vancouver (whatever happened to Hugh Currie) and Muzz Patrick at Tacoma. . . . Quotable quote: "We'll be in there"—Fred Hutchison. . . . And sometime when we've got a few spare moments we're going to have Andy Anderson and Cliff Heglin sit down and figure out how many miles by boat and car they've travelled during the ladder derby competition. . . . The anglers should be pleased to have such energetic men in their midst. . . .

★ ★ ★

Speaking of the ladder derby finals, a complete list of rules will be announced before the fishoff . . . watch for it? . . . Any soccer fan who knows the last time an Island team won the Coast Soccer League championship would be doing everyone a good turn by revealing the information . . . "Ladysmith, 1926" is the only name on the trophy. . . . George Eade says he lost "about $1,000" last year with United even though home attendance was doubled. . . . Things look brighter for next year, however, as the team now is fully equipped, $800 worth. . . .

★ ★ ★

SQUEEZE PLAY—A post-season series between the Tyees and Vancouver Caps is rumored, then one between Denver and the Tyees. . . . The former is out of range . . . the latter has possibilities but not this year. Better it would be to have the Western League and W.I.L. knock off their season a couple of weeks earlier and arrange for a post-season series between the championship clubs . . . 'tis a thought for the future. . . . Vancouver race-goers have a special treat today in the person of Wantha Davis, a woman jockey who boasts victories over Johnny Longden, Ralph Neves and Jack Westrope. . . .

'Scuse Me, Can I Get By Please?

Veteran St. Louis Cardinal infielder Red Schoendienst found the door to home plate locked in a recent game with the Brooklyn Dodgers. The scrappy red-head simply put his head down and bull-dozed his way safely past Dodger catcher Rube Walker. The ball, jarred out of Walker's mitt by the impact, can be seen floating over the Dodger catcher's cap. The game was at Ebbets Field. (NEA Telephoto.)

Relax Folks, Irish Are Rollin' Again

Whip V.L.C.'s To Regain Loop Lead

By DENNY BOYD

Shamrocks 18, Vancouver 5

Dry your eyes ma, and brush away those worried frowns.

The Shamrocks came home Wednesday night and they were the Shamrocks you used to know, not the pale imitations who wore the green and white sweaters in the last two Shamrock games.

Irish hearts smiled hugely and Irish hearts burst with pride as the Rocks humbled Vancouver 18-5 in what was their most crucial game of the season to date.

A loss would have put the Rocks in an uncomfortable position. Vancouver would have gained a three-way tie for the league lead with Victoria and New Westminster.

With New Westminster playing Nanaimo tonight, the Rocks could have been fighting to get out of second place Friday night when they meet P.N.E. Indians. Now a New Westminster win tonight still gives Victoria a tie for the lead.

With that knowledge in mind, and with Arnie Ferguson and Norm Baker back in harness, the Rocks put the boots to a sad imitation of the Vancouver club which was greatly weakened by a combination of flu germs, injuries and general apathy in the second half.

	W	L	GF	GA	Pts.
VICTORIA	18	10	412	296	36
New Westminster	17	12	406	332	34
Vancouver	16	14	374	390	32
North Shore	15	13	312	314	30
Nanaimo	5	22	287	459	10

UNHAPPY DEBUT

It was an unhappy debut for Johnny Cavallin who was coaching the Vancouver club for the first time since Walt Lee called it quits.

Said Cavallin of the game, "Those guys sure gave me a royal ——— welcome but what could you expect with the club I brought over?"

Vancouver was forced to use second stringers as starters; they brought in Jack Marsh who has played only one previous game in another company and they even dressed club secretary George Gray.

WEAKENED CLUB

Alex McKay was out with a leg injury, Bert Ticehurst, Gogie Stewart, Ernie Smith, Dave Redline, Ed Hamson and Jim Anderson were all out with flu, Denny Huddleston threw up his dinner at half time, and Fred Whittaker retired after the third quarter with a sore knee.

But even a full Vancouver club, playing at its best, would have had a hard time stopping the Rocks, who ran into one of those nights when they could do no wrong.

Their offensive plays worked with ease and they checked the length of the floor for the full 60 minutes of the at times hard-hitting game.

NORTHUP HIGH

Every member of the team, with the exception of utility man Bob Long and Larry Booth, hit the score sheet, with Jackie Northup getting four goals and an assist, Archie Browning four goals, and Baker and Ferguson celebrating their return with four points each.

The relentless attack pierced the Vancouver armor three times in the first quarter, four times in the second, seven times in the runaway third and four times in the last period.

Bulky Jim Hetherington did wonders for his leading goalie average as he hopped about to stop 21 out of the 26 shots from Vancouver sticks.

NATURAL REACTION

Cavallin registered slight disapproval of the refereeing of Bill Dickinson and Gordy Folka who assessed Vancouver 28 minutes in penalties.

Whether Cavallin's beef was justified is disputable, but Shamrocks scored 11 goals while the Vancouver club had one or more men resting in the penalty box.

Tyees Suffer Hit Famine

Vancouver 3, Victoria 0

If the person who stole the Victoria Tyees' bats would ship them over to Vancouver post haste, they would be gratefully accepted with no questions asked. The Tyees need them.

Still laboring without the benefit of bats with the base hits in them, Tyees went down to their second straight shutout defeat at the hands of the pesky Vancouver Capilanos, this time by a 3-0 count.

After absorbing a 2-0 whitewash job Tuesday night, Tyees sent Jehosie Heard out Wednesday to halt the famine but Heard, too, fell victim. Seeking his 19th win, I'll Jehosie took it on the chin for his eighth loss.

Vancouver picked up only seven hits off Heard and reliever Ben Lorino who came in in the eighth. They got single runs in the fourth, fifth and eighth innings. Gordy Brunswick, who has gone hit-crazy recently, scored the first after singling and stealing second and coming in on a single by Jim Wert.

Brunswick tripled to drive in the second run and two singles and a sacrifice scored the clincher.

LOVRICH TOUGH

Bob Moniz and Heard garnered the only two hits given up by Vancouver rookie Tom Lovrich, who is rapidly becoming the Vancouver stopper. The former University of Southern California right-hander walked five but struck out seven and kept the Tyees under his thumb all night for his sixth win.

Pitching also held the spotlight at Yakima where the Bears moved into a fifth place tie with Lewiston with a 1-0 shutout over Salem. Tom Delsarto, of the Bears, and Vince Dibiasi, of the Senators, allowed four hits apiece in the 90-minute contest.

INDIANS TAKE PAIR

Spokane took a doubleheader from Lewiston, 6-2 in eight innings, and 8-7. Nearly every player on the two squads saw action before the last man was out. A total of 26 men were used in the first game and 28 in the second.

At Wenatchee, Tri-City's Braves downed the Chiefs 10-6 to even the series at a game apiece. Tri-City's George New allowed only six hits, while the Braves touched Bill Stites and Ed Kapp for a total of 16.

Viduals Give Moose Food For Thought

Individuals showed Moose Lodge that they were far from dead when they downed Moose 8-6 at Central Park Wednesday night to extend the best-of-five finals in the Senior Women's Softball League. Moose now lead the series two games to one.

Timely hitting in the last two innings and smart clutch pitching by Ruth Oster were the winning combination for Individuals as they came from behind a 5-2 deficit to tie the score in the sixth inning of the seven-inning game and won it in the last frame.

Tied 6-6 entering the last inning, Individuals got two runs on singles by Ev Slater, Flo Pickering and Pat Mason, an infield out and a long fly.

Miss Oster gave Moose one run in the second and four in the third but allowed them only one run and two hits in the last four frames.

Jan Zaruk, Individual catcher, topped the hitters with three, including a fifth inning homer.

The series continues tonight at lower Central Park at 6.30.

Marg Todd in Quarters Of Canadian Open Golf

Canadian Press Staff Writer

EDMONTON, Aug. 14 (CP).—Ontario and British Columbia had two players each today in the quarter-finals of the Canadian Women's Open golf championship. The rest were Americans.

A gallery of some 2,000 spread over Edmonton's Mayfair course in bright, sunny weather Wednesday to see defending champion Marlene Stewart, 18, of Fonthill, Ont., defeat Mrs. G. E. Wilcox, Jr., of Miami, 5 and 3.

But Alberta's brightest hope in years—18-year-old Rae Milligan of Jasper—was eliminated in a mild upset on the 19th green by Mrs. Maurice Glick of Baltimore.

Grace Lenczyk of Hartford, Conn., Open winner in 1947 and 1948, was extended to the 20th hole before she won over Marnie Polk of Chattanooga, Tenn.

The remaining matches went much as expected. Mary Gay of Kitchener, 20-year-old Ontario champion, won 3 and 1 over Anne Sharp of Fonthill. Babs Davies of Vancouver won 1 up over Mrs. N. J. Carlson of Toronto and Mrs. J. H. Todd of Victoria took a 2 and 1 win over Mrs. J. C. Whitelaw of Laval-Sur-Le-Lac, Que.

Edean Anderson of Helena, Mont., a low qualifier, won 4 and 3 over veteran Ada Mackenzie of Toronto, who copped the Open five times, the last in 1935.

The Lenczyk family act was broken up by Polly Martin of St. Clairsville, O., who defeated Lorraine, Grace's sister, 1 up.

Miss Stewart, all but eliminated on the first round when she won on the 19th, was back in form Wednesday. The champion won the first hole and was never behind. She ended it on the 15th after holding a four-up lead from the 11th.

Today Mrs. Glick meets Grace Lenczyk, while Miss Gay goes against Mrs. Todd, Miss Stewart against Miss Martin and Miss Davies against Miss Anderson.

Consolation flight scores follow:

Mrs. T. F. A. Sutherland, Edmonton, 2 and 1 over Joanne Goulet, Regina.

Mrs. B. Campbell, Winnipeg, 2 up over Mrs. R. Cole, Winnipeg.

Ruth Thorvaldson, Winnipeg, bye.

Mrs. W. S. Edey, Winnipeg, 1 up over Daintry Chisholm, Montreal.

Mrs. D. MacDougall, Saskatoon, 1 up over Shirley Fry, Esquimalt, B.C.

Mrs. Graeme Pyke, Montreal, 4 and 3 over Shirley Woodley, Toronto.

Dorothy Herbertson, Esquimalt, B.C., 6 and5 over Catherine Beer, Pointe Clair, Que.

Mrs. C. Shuttleworth, Toronto, by default over Mrs. J. Damenais, Laval-sur-le-Lac, Que.

EXHIBITION PARK RECORD BROKEN

VANCOUVER, Aug. 14 (BUP)—A new record for the six-furlong distance was recorded Wednesday at Vancouver's Exhibition Park when a bay filly sliced two-fifths of a second off the record in the seventh race.

No Funds romped home five lengths in front to break the mark set in 1951 by Appreciado which, ironically, was scratched from Wednesday's race by its trainers.

The three-year-old, carrying 111 pounds, got a good ride from jockey Wayne Burgin and won going away to pay $8.40 to the $2 straight bettor.

No Funds sprinted the distance in 1.11.2 to join Star Affair in the ranks of record-smashers this year. Star Affair broke the mile record at Landsdowne last month.

Senior 'B' Semifinals All Square

Berths in the Senior B Softball League finals are going to be hard come by if Wednesday's semifinal games are any indication.

Tillicums and Timkeneers, who were beaten in their first semifinal games by Forest Products and Army respectively, bounced back to the victory path to square both sets at one game each.

Tillicums scored seven runs in the last two innings to beat down Forest Products 13-9 in a wild slugfest while Ray Crabbe pitched Timkeneers to an 8-1 conquest of Army.

Forest Products used three pitchers in a vain attempt to halt the rampaging Tillicums, who pounded out 15 hits while Forest Products picked up 10 from the offerings of Chu Eng and his successor Alf Aspinal.

Crabbe gave Army 10 hits but pitched shutout ball after giving Army a run in the second inning.

The two games produced three home runs, Joe Clarkson and Jack Elliott for Tillicums and Jack Anderson for Timkeneers.

Forest Products and Tillicums meet in the last game of their set tonight at 6.30 at Heywood Avenue while Army and Timkeneers go again Friday night.

Chinooks Lead Senior Ball Semis

If it were not for opposing pitchers, Don McKinnon and Paul Beck, Chinook flingers, might have recorded a two-man no-hitter Wednesday night when Chinooks dropped Eagles 5-3 at Athletic Park in the first game of a best-of-three Senior Amateur Baseball League semifinal.

Beck and McKinnon split eight innings of pitching for Chinooks and gave Eagles only two hits, a clean single by Eagles' starting pitcher Jim Thompson and an infield bleeder by his relief man Pete Kirchner. Other than those two hits, Eagles were completely silent at the plate.

Chinooks touched Thompson and Kirchner for seven hits, including a triple by Denny McGee and were helped by four Eagle errors.

Scrappy Ed Dorohoy, Chinook second baseman, had the hottest shower of the night, being thumbed out of the game in the eighth for arguing too vociferously over a close call at first base.

Second game of the series is billed for Saturday afternoon. In the other semifinal, Harris Cycles and Farmer Construction start a three game semi-final set at Athletic Park Friday night.

Bays in Second Win Over Nanaimo Jets

Defending champion Foul Bay bounced back from a nearly disasterous third-quarter breakdown in Nanaimo Wednesday night to batter Nanaimo Jets 17-11 and take a 2-0 lead in their best-of-five series for the Senior B Lacrosse League championship.

Foul Bay had no trouble with the Jets in the first half, building up a 12-4 lead. But as a result of what coach Dick Chungranes called "possible over-confidence," Foul Bay pulled an el foldo and Nanaimo rammed in six straight goals without a reply from Foul Bay. Most of the trouble was caused by one costly Foul Bay penalty.

The splurge cut Foul Bay's lead to 12-10, but the sequence was reversed in the last quarter, Nanaimo getting the penalties and Foul Bay the goals.

Foul Bay shook off the slump to score five goals while Nanaimo could manage only a singleton.

John Newton was the top scorer for the victorious Bays with three goals. Art Green and Eddie Popham each got two goals and one assist. Big Clem Linford scored three for Nanaimo.

Foul Bay can end the series and take their second straight league title Friday night when they meet Nanaimo at Memorial Arena at 8.30 in the third game of the set.

Coach Chungranes was optimistic this morning, stating "We can beat them on our own floor."

VANCOUVER MAN SECOND

Calgary Shot Wins Queen's Gold Medal

CONNAUGHT RIFLE RANGES, South March, Ont., Aug. 14 (CP).—Lt.-Col. Steve Johnson of Calgary Wednesday won the prized Queen's gold medal at the third day of the 84th annual Dominion of Canada Rifle Association prize shoot.

He posted a score of 178 of a possible 200, firing from four stages to lead some 300 competitors.

Col. Johnson, a regular D.C.R.A. competitor was a member of Canada's Bisley team in 1934, '37, '38 and '39 and qualified again this year but was unable to make the trip.

Open to members of the armed forces, the match is deliberate firing from 600 yards; firing with movement at 600 to 100 yards; rapid firing at 300 yards and snap-shooting from 300 yards.

Sgt. Jack MacNeil of Vancouver, was one point off Johnson's effort with 177. Third was Capt. J. R. Newell of Winnipeg, with 175.

Pte. Roy Walker of New Westminster, B.C., tied with Newell with 175 but was given fourth placing because of his poorer placings on the target.

CSM. Norman L. Beckett of Hamilton, broke a 34-way tie to win the Tilton match, the other featured event.

Among the several matches scheduled today is the qualifying stage of the Governor-General's match which is shot from the 200, 500 and 600-yard ranges.

DEFENDS OLYMPIC TEAM SELECTION

Dawes Answers Critics

MONTREAL, Aug. 14 (CP)—President A. Sidney Dawes of the Canadian Olympic Association came up with some figures in a statement today to show that four athletes—whose non-selection for the games at Helsinki brought "a great deal of criticism" of the association—would have fared badly.

He named the athletes as Mary Lawrence of Toronto, women's shot put; Jo Brennan of Toronto, women's discus; Fred Ruish of Niagara Falls, men's shot put, and Bob Bazos of Toronto, decathlon.

None of these four equalled sixth-place figures of the 1948 games, "the standard necessary to qualify for our 1952 Olympic teams," at the Olympic trials at Hamilton last June.

Dawes said this is how the four would have done at Helsinki:

"The winner's distance in the women's shot put event was 51 feet 1½ inches and Mary Lawrance's best effort at our trials was 40 feet 3¼ inches, which would have placed her 14th.

"The winner's distance in the women's discus event was 168 feet 8⅜ inches, and Jo Brennan's best effort at our trials was 123 feet 3 inches, which would have placed her 19th.

"The winner's distance in the men's shot put event was 57 feet 1⅜ inches, and, while I do not know where Fred Ruish's best effort of 47 feet 4⅝ inches would have placed him, I do know that the sixth-place distance was 53 feet 1⅜ inches.

"In the decathlon, while our competitor Adams (Bob Adams of Saskatoon) performed better than Fournier (Lionel Fournier of Montreal) did in 1948, he still finished in 19th position, which would hardly have justified our taking Bob Bazos, whom Adams had beaten, as a second competitor."

Dawes' statement said further:

"Our summer Olympic teams totalled 135, which was approximately the same as we took in 1948. This amounted to nine per 1,000,000 of our population, whereas the total number of competitors taken by the United States was three per 1,000,000 of their population, and by Great Britain seven per 1,000,000 of their population, from which you will see that we are taking large enough teams and what we should try to do is to improve their quality."

HOW BOSOX PILOT SEES PENNANT RACE

Lou Picks Yankees

BY GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK, Aug. 14 (AP)—The American League, in the opinion of manager Lou Boudreau of the Boston Red Sox, probably is heading for a winding of a finish, and he seems to feel that his club has about as good a shot at first prize as either the New York Yankees or the Cleveland Indians.

The former shortstopping great has fooled 'em all this summer by keeping his colorful mixture of raw rookies and fading veterans right up in the race. He is stubborn in his belief that, given a couple or three breaks from here on, they can win it all. He has figured it down pretty fine.

"We play our last six games at home, three against the Yanks and three against Washington, and that's what I'm banking on," Lou said on his last visit here. "Those games could be the pay-off for us, especially if we get some pitching help from Ellis Kinder.

"We'll be in better shape down the stretch when Junior Stephens comes back to play short in about a week. We can use that long ball of his at home. He's been out a month, ever since he collided with Dick Kryhoski of the Browns.

Asked which he feared the most, the Indians or the Yankees, Lou had some difficulty making up his mind.

"I guess you've got to say the Yanks," he finally decided, "they've got the depth, all those good young fellows on the bench, and Stengel keeps shifting them around to get the best from them. Those veterans of his figure to play tight, steady ball in the stretch, too. A lot might depend upon whether Eddie Lopat comes back as a regular starter for them—even if he only comes back for the month of September it will give them a boost."

Then, we said, the simple truth is that you fear the Yanks more than you do Cleveland. What is this unholy spell that the Yanks seem to cast over their opponents year after year, anyway?

"No, wait," Boudreau remonstrated. "I don't mean to say that they've got any better chance of beating us out than the Indians have. I'm afraid of that Cleveland bunch, too. A club that has the kind of pitching they have, you've got to respect them, even if Bobby Feller isn't having such a good year.

"As a team, maybe I fear the Yankees a little more. What I feel about the Indians is that they might be strong enough to sneak in. While we're finishing up against the Yankees and Washington and Philadelphia, they're going to be out west playing St. Louis and Detroit and Chicago. That's going to give them a big advantage."

RELIEF PITCHER DE LUXE

Black Unsung Dodger Hero

Joe Black is one rookie who is living up to his spring press clippings.

Back in March Black was tabbed as the best bet to take up the slack caused by Don Newcombe's entry into the army, and the 28-year-old right-hander has contributed as much to the Dodger cause as big Newk did in the past.

It is doubtful if the Dodgers would be leading the National League by nine games today if it weren't for Black. Used entirely in relief, he has appeared in 37 games, winning nine, losing two and saving several others.

Black took part in both ends of Wednesday's day-night doubleheader against the runner-up New York Giants. He gained credit for the 5-4 victory and was tapped for two unearned runs in the 8-4 defeat.

Chicago and Cincinnati and Philadelphia and Boston also split doubleheaders. The Cubs dropped the opener to the Reds 11-3 but won the second game 7-0. Philadelphia whipped the Braves 3-0 but bowed 9-3 in the night portion of the twin-bill. St. Louis and Pittsburgh were idle.

New York Yankees retained their 2½-game lead over Cleveland in the American League chase, dividing a bargain bill with Washington while Cleveland halved a pair with St. Louis Browns.

Washington drubbed the Yanks 12-4 in the opener but lost the second game 10-9 in 13 innings. The Browns tripped Bob Feller 5-2 but Cleveland bounced back to grab the second game 9-1. In other games Boston Red Sox turned back Philadelphia 4-0 and Chicago White Sox crushed Detroit 7-1.

Bombers Whip Hamilton Cats

HAMILTON, Ont., Aug. 14 (BUP). — The Winnipeg Blue Bomber juggernaut steamrollered toward Toronto and the game it "wanted most to win" today after overwhelming the Hamilton Tiger Cats 24-17 Wednesday night for its second Eastern exhibition triumph.

Superior condition, the gigantic, hard-charging wingline that led the Western Conference team to a 24-6 victory over Dominion champion Ottawa on Saturday and Indian Jack Jacobs cowed the Cats. A crowd of 15,550, largest ever to watch an exhibition at Civic Stadium, saw the Bombers win on the margin of a second-quarter touchdown.

FINAL WEEK CONCLUDES

Ladder Derby Awaits Fish-Off

The 1952 Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association ladder derby is history except for the climax, the grand fishoff, on August 24 in Saanich Inlet.

Final week of the 10-week qualification period ended Tuesday night with over 100 fish being weighed in but last-minute hopefuls with anything caught under seven pounds are doomed to disappointment.

Official list released today by derby officials shows that five fishermen tied for the last spot with seven pounders while W. A. Crust took the week's high of 20¾ pounds.

Weekly prize winners were topped by Jim James' 49-pounder. He had previously qualified. Others were L. Chow, 39 pounds; Verne Pallison, 23½; Crust, 20¾, and Cliff Sanderton, 18. Hidden weight award went to L. E. Groff.

There's still hope for some anglers who failed to qualify, however, as members who do register for the final fish-off by 5.30 p.m. Tuesday will be ruled out and the next heaviest fish that failed to qualify in the week the unregistered fishermen qualified will be added to the ladder.

Registration opens Saturday at Wilson & Lenfesty's Store on Government Street.

YOU CAN'T PAINT LEMONS ON YOUR 'LEMON' CAR IN D.C.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14 (AP).—A marine corporal who painted lemons on his car has been adjudged guilty of violating a District of Columbia law that says you can't put up displays ridiculing a vehicle. He is 25-year-old Frank Farkas.

H. Clifford Allder, who represented Farkas at a hearing, said the marine painted a number of lemons on his car and also wrote the word "Lemon" across the vehicle because he was dissatisfied with it.

Allder said he probably would appeal the ruling of Municipal Court Judge Andrew J. Howard, Jr., who set August 19 for sentencing. The district law, Allder said, is unconstitutional. He considered it violates freedom of speech.

"If a man owns property," Allder said, "he can write anything he wants on it."

MOSSADEGH REFORM AIDS PEASANTS

Larger Share of Produce Profits

TEHRAN, Iran, Aug. 14 (AP).—Iran's down-trodden peasants looked forward today to a "new deal"—an extra 10-per-cent cut from the giant-sized landlords' share of what they produce.

The decree ordering a better break for the poverty-striken farmers was issued Wednesday by Premier Mohammed Mossadegh.

It also specified that the landlords must deposit another 10 per cent of the income from their estates in special rural banks to aid needy farmers.

The decree was the first of a series of reforms promised by the aged Nationalist leader when parliament this week granted him the right to rule with near-dictatorial powers for six months.

The first decree is expected to take some of the wind out of Communist propaganda blasts for land and agricultural reforms. Most of Iran's arable land is owned by a comparative handful of large landholders.

Until now, Iranian peasants have received only a tiny share of what they produced.

Mossadegh's decree specified that, effective immediately, landlords must turn over 10 per cent of their share of the produce and cash income of their estates to the tenants. It added that rural banks, into which the landlords must deposit another 10 per cent, will be established shortly.

Economically Hit, Britain Fights For Survival in Changing World

(This is the second of two articles by Charles R. Hargrove, NEA special correspondent, on economic conditions in Britain.)

LONDON, Aug. 14 (NEA)—As if socialized England doesn't have enough trouble with the growing specter of bankruptcy and a one-time hero named Winston Churchill whose glamor is wearing thin, she's now stuck with trying to unsocialize part of her socialization.

"Good Ol' Winnie" himself, Prime Minister again after leading Britain to victory in the Second World War, is as ready as anybody to admit how tough the sailing really is.

"Lands and nations whom we defeated in war or rescued from subjection are today more solidly sure of earning their living than we are," he intoned recently in his famous style.

One reference could well have been to Germany, with whom the British Parliament has since ratified preliminary Second World War peace terms despite Laborite opposition.

British taxes, considerably higher than in the U.S., are also higher than Germany's. Germany hasn't the national debt to pay off that England does. Germany produces much more food per capital than does England and German economy is now moving healthily into the black with an excess of exports over imports of $59 million in June.

That sort of thing hurts the British, who only 12 years ago thought they would have to repel an actual German invasion of the British homeland and then went on to fight five years in helping to defeat her. And unfortunately the Churchill who led them then is no help now.

Under the Labor government, which the Conservatives ousted 11 months ago, Britain nationalized her coal mines, nearly all her transportation system including railroads, canals, and trucking companies, and her steel industry.

CAN THEY STAY

When the Conservatives came back into power they promised some de-nationalizing. They haven't done it yet, but they're getting the paperwork started. The question now is whether they can stay in power long enough to do the job.

Even if they do a serious problem still looms. The Laborites have vowed to re-nationalize, when and if they get back into power, everything the Churchill government de-nationalizes. How long the weakened British economy could stand this sort of pulling and hauling is a question.

But whatever the Conservatives do about de-nationalizing, it's generally conceded they won't touch Britain's socialized medicine program, so much maligned by conservatives in this country.

But while the great number of Englishmen are benefitting by the extensive government social welfare program, there are developing serious drawbacks for the working man. Unemployment, for instance.

Of the country's 22,000,000 people employed in the coal pits, the steel mills, on farms, in shipping and elsewhere, more than 500,000 are now unemployed. That's a higher figure than any annual average in the past 10 years.

One big field of unemployment is in the clothing and textile trades where export sales have become as difficult as domestic ones. In this business only a year ago, only 10,000 workers were idle. Today there are over 150,000.

Here, as in America, the government has been able to take up some of the slack by offering jobs in expanding defense production.

* * *

Some of this defense production work is made possible by the new United States program of buying military goods and equipment from other countries. Churchill, who has always been rated high in the United States, can wield valuable influence in this field.

Britain hasn't benefited too much from this program so far, but she expects to in coming months.

Not only is there rising unemployment, but demands for wage increases have been turned down in recent weeks. More than 2,000,000 British workers in iron and steel industries had their claims for higher wages rejected, making nearly 5,000,000 British workers for whom raises have been refused or suspended in the last three months or so.

10th Polio Victim In Saskatchewan

REGINA, Aug. 14 (CP)—Two deaths from polio Wednesday boosted the Saskatchewan total this year to 10. At the same time, Manitoba reported its sixth death from the disease.

A total of 35 persons in the four western provinces now have died of polio in 1952. There have been 11 deaths in Alberta and eight in British Columbia.

The latest Saskatchewan victims were Miss Barbara Banting of Kindersley, who died in a Regine hospital shortly after being brought here by Saskatchewan air ambulance, and Mrs. Doreen Grazier, 25, of Yorkton, who died in an air ambulance plane a few minutes out of Regina.

Manitoba's sixth polio fatality was Miss Raymonde Bellemarie, 21, from the border of the province's epidemic area south of Morris municipality. The woman died Monday and her death was announced Wednesday by provincial health authorities.

The polio case total for the four western provinces to date this year now stands at 630.

Death Ruled Accident

VANCOUVER, Aug. 14 (BUP)—A coroner's jury Wednesday returned a verdict of accidental death in the case of 10-year-old Clifford Labine, who died beneath the wheels of a Vancouver bus Aug. 8.

Labine, Vancouver's 12th traffic fatality of the year, died en route to hospital after he swerved his bicycle into the side of a bus and slipped beneath the rear wheels.

Kiwanis Awards

LETHBRIDGE, Alta., Aug. 14 (CP)—Three awards were presented Kiwanis clubs at the western Canada Kiwanis international convention which closed here.

The Dr. Vaughan shield for the best attendance percentage for the first six months went to Jasper National Park club with a 87.35 percentage.

The Edmonton St. James club received the Ed Fraser shield for the greatest increase in membership during the last year with an increase of 13 members.

The Carter banner for club achievement was awarded to the Souris, Man., club.

Rare Birds Seen

WINNIPEG, Aug. 14 (CP).—Evidence that some of the world's whooping cranes may nest in northern Manitoba was reported Wednesday by Ducks Unlimited.

Officials of the group said some of the distinctive, big white birds with black wing tips—whose world total is believed less than 35—have been seen about 120 miles northwest of here in the Lonely Lake-Turtle River area.

An aerial survey headed by Bert Cartwright, chief naturalist of Ducks Unlimited, will leave Friday on its annual survey of prairie waterfowl and will attempt to spot the unknown nesting place of the famous birds.

Reports that the birds had been seen came from three different points in Manitoba's lake country.

Three Escape Crash

FLIN FLON, Man., Aug. 14 (CP).—Two Toronto pilots and a passenger escaped serious injury Wednesday night when their twin-engined land plane dropped into Ross Lake here and flipped over.

The Anson plane, piloted by Edwin Kenyon and Fred Dryden of Austin Airways, Toronto, and carrying passenger J. Musselman of International Nickel Co., left here earlier for Stoney Rapids, Man., on a prospecting trip.

It turned back when engine trouble developed. The engines failed while the pilots were making their approach to the Flin Flon landing strip over the small lake.

The wheels hit the water surface and the aircraft flipped end for end.

BABY DIES AFTER RARE PREGNANCY

DETROIT, Aug. 14 (CP).—A five-pound baby boy who survived birth for 31 hours after a rare abdominal pregnancy, died Wednesday night. The mother, Mrs. Henry Perry, 26, was reported progressing satisfactorily.

The doctor who delivered the baby three weeks prematurely said an abdominal delivery occurs about once in 16,000 deliveries and is fatal in about 85 per cent of the cases.

He said the child was nurtured in the abdominal cavity instead of the uterus. In such cases, he said the fertilized egg from the ovary makes its way from the fallopian tube into the abdominal cavity. The baby continues to get nourishment from the mother, however, from the umbilical cord.

High Labor Costs Blamed for Loss of Foreign, Home Markets

High labor costs are mainly responsible for pricing British Columbia products out of foreign and home markets, said Fred W. Hawes in a speech before the Kiwanis Club here.

"This applies particularly to the lumber industry of this province," said Mr. Hawes, a director of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce and vice-president of the Vancouver Island Associated Chambers of Commerce.

The industrial wage scale here is considerably higher than in any other part of Canada, Mr. Hawes claimed.

Despite the higher wage scales in B.C., Mr. Hawes added, labor unions here are still fighting to get more. But management is now standing firm, he said, in an effort to stop spiraling costs.

Charging that labor leadership in this province "is poor," the speaker gave it as his opinion that many strike actions were brought about unnecessarily.

Small "policy committees" of labor unions in B.C. gave orders to strike here, said Mr. Hawes, and such action was not necessarily approved by the large majority of union membership.

The speaker stressed that he was not opposed to labor's right to strike but he drew attention to the hardships imposed on both labor and industry through strike actions.

Commenting on the outlook for industrial prosperity in B.C., Mr. Hawes said the province received contracts worth $60,000,000 last year. But this year defense contracts for B.C. would be cut, he said, to $29,000,000 at least.

The clouded future of B.C. industry confronts the province with a serious situation, Mr. Hawes said, and the problem must be faced.

BETWEEN TIMES

By MONTE ROBERTS

Lady telephoned yesterday to ask when the luxury liner would be open to the public.

"What luxury liner?" I asked, in some surprise, wondering if the Queen Elizabeth had sneaked into port when I wasn't looking.

"The one in Esquimalt Harbor," she said.

The boys in H.M.S. Sheffield will be glad to know they are travelling in luxury.

As a matter of cold, hard fact, any "luxury" there might be in Sheffield doesn't extend to the menu. The ship is on Royal Navy rations, which seem to consist largely of frozen mutton.

When the supply depot of H.M.C. Dockyard asked what kind of fresh vegetables Sheffield wished, it was told "potatoes, cabbages and carrots."

The British are indeed a hardy race.

The female department of this newspaper has been having a wonderful time for itself while Sheffield is in port.

Every day, the female department reports more thrilling events in the gay, mad whirl of social excitement, and every evening, I curl up before the fire, a bag of marshmallows by my side, and the paper clutched in my hot little hands, my eyes fairly popping out of my head as I read of beautiful women, handsome men and tinkling tea cups.

What could be more thrilling than this:

"During the evening they were entertained with beating retreat."

That's what every party needs as a crowning moment—a nice, sturdy retreat to beat.

I like to picture the host, frowning at his wrist-watch, then summoning his entertainers to beat the guests while they retreat.

A rather sterner picture of the social amenities is painted by this terse paragraph:

"A return visit was made by the Lieutenant-Governor when he attended a luncheon in the ship. He was greeted by a 15-gun salute, a guard of honor, and a band."

I am glad I not a lieutenant-governor. The poor man can't even go to lunch without having guns fired at him.

The female department, however, is not content to record the gay activities of the navy. It has also decided to add a brand new ship to our training force. As witness this revealing statement:

"The Sioux Ste. Marie will be scene of a dinner party given by Capt. and Mrs. Ronald Jackson."

If I were Capt. Jackson of H.M.C.S. Sault Ste. Marie, I think I would be inclined to Sioux the female department.

Ah, well. It's navy week all week around here. And just to get me into the spirit of things, the kindly management of this newspaper has me back on the desk, working on heads.

RESEARCHERS SEEK SECRET OF PLANNED FOREST GROWTH

RICHARD BORZVEMOWSKI

(This is the second of a series of three stories of B.C.'s forest development. Reporter Don Ingham takes a look at the specialized forest crops of the future.)

By Don Ingham

The forest of the future will be an amazing place.

Trees will be grown specifically for either pulp or timber. Production will be greater because cause of improved forestry methods ,and trees will leave the woods in a "semi-finished" state.

This ideal situation is still a long way off, but scientists and foresters at the Cowichan Lake experimental station of the B.C. Forest Service are on their way to achieving it.

One of the most interesting studies is being conducted by Richard Borzvemowski, a Pole who studied in Poland and South Africa.

He is trying to find the relation between sapwood, on the outer surface of a tree, and the heartwood, or hard, dry core.

"Sapwood is ideal for pulp purposes, while the heartwood, being harder and more durable, is best for structural use," he told a gathering of Victoria and Vancouver newsmen during a tour of the station, sponsored by the Forest Service.

"We know that food is stored only in the sapwood," he said, "and that it is constant in thickness. We also want to know something of the transformation of sapwood into heartwood, and what happens in the intermediate zone between the two layers."

The project involves examination of countless felled trees at various stages of growth, and checks of their volume at regular intervals from one end to the other.

"We believe that water is the controlling factor in sapwood and heartwood production," Mr. Borzvemowski said. "We are, however, determining the effects of pruning, thinning and other influences."

Another of the several experiments being conducted under the direction of George Warrack, station superintendent, is the killing and debarking of trees by chemical means.

"Chemical debarking will, we hope, loosen the bark from the tree so that it either falls off while standing, or is knocked off when the tree is felled," Mr. Warrack said.

"That would save the expense of debarking in the pulp mills, and would also dry the timber on the stump and give vertical storage—an ideal condition," he said. "We don't know yet, though, if we are making the proper approach."

Research is being carried on by "Sandy" Benteli, a young Swiss forester who studied at Zurich and University of British Columbia.

Some trees have had the bark peeled off, and a chemical solution applied to the bare trunk. Others have had a deep furrow chopped around them, and solution poured into the cut.

Both methods, and several solutions in varying strengths, have been applied at intervals of one month.

"We don't know what will be learned at the end of the experiment, or what is good and what is bad," Mr. Benteli said. "We also know other foresters have obtained much different results to ours, but we are confident that when we have the answers they will be right."

Man Safe As Flames Gut Truck

Larry Knowles, of 2528 Fifth Street, escaped in the nick of time from the cab of a W. H. Cox Transfer truck which burst into flames shortly after 9 this morning in Victoria West.

Knowles was driving a truckload of frozen milk and ice cream along Esquimalt Road, when he smelled smoke and noticed the seat getting warm. He pulled over to the curb immediately, near the Dalton Street intersection. No sooner had he alighted from the truck to investigate, than flames burst out with an explosive crack to envelop the whole inside of the cab.

"It was lucky I got out when I did," Knowles acknowledged afterward.

Intense heat of the fire made it impossible to go near the front end of the truck.

City firemen were called immediately. By the time they arrived, the entire front end of the truck was completely gutted. They concentrated on preventing the van from being destroyed as well.

Heat and water ruined the $1,000 cargo.

Damage to the truck itself was estimated at about $2,000.

The cargo of 800 gallons of frozen milk and 50 gallons of ice cream was bound for the Esquimalt naval base to be stowed aboard the cruiser Ontario, leaving Friday on a routine training cruise.

Officials of Northwestern Creamery said this afternoon they would be able to supply another truckload of milk and ice cream to the ship before she sails.

POST OFFICE STAFF DUE FOR MOVE IN SEPTEMBER

Victoria's post office staff probably will move into the new Federal Building higher up Government Street early in September, Postmaster J. B. Sinclair said today.

He stressed a definite date has not been set, but that the move may be made around the time Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent is expected to open the structure officially Sept. 5.

The move, he said, will be done on a week-end and there will be no interruption in service.

Marilyn hard aground at Otter Point.

MAY LOSE HER CARGO

Troller Grounded, Towed and Beached

The grounding of a troller at Otter Point early Wednesday may result in the loss of a two-ton catch of salmon to a fisherman who had just completed the final payment on his boat.

The 34-foot troller Marilyn went aground on rocks after fisherman John Umland had set the automatic pilot and went below deck to make a cup of coffee.

The partly-insured vessel was carrying more than four thousand pounds of salmon destined for B.C. Packers here.

The troller took a rough pounding between two large rocks but was finally pulled out by the Island Tug and Barge's Island Rover Wednesday morning. At one point, the Marilyn sank completely with only the top of the mast showing, but the tug's crew managed to hold the tow.

On the last portion of the tow to Sooke, the Sooke Towing Company's Polar Forsyth assisted.

The fish boat was beached with ten feet of the mast showing and today the derrick barge Skookum was scheduled to raise the Marilyn.

A Canada Packers spokesman said it may be possible to save the cargo of salmon after it has been inspected.

City Giving Generously to Blood Bank

The best evening clinic recorded here by the Red Cross saw 257 persons donate blood Wednesday night.

Total donations at four clinics —including two held at H.M.C.S. Naden in which 873 pints of blood were donated—is 1,345 pints.

Many new donors were included in the long line of persons who waited outside Red Cross House Wednesday night as busy volunteers worked overtime to accommodate them.

Two more clinics are scheduled for today at 1.30 to 4.30 p.m. and 7 to 9.30 p.m.

DANCING MARINERS IN PORT

Members of the Square Dancing Show Boat which arrived in Victoria today will give a demonstration of old-time dancing at Central Park at 8 tonight.

The dancers are professional men and women who are on a holiday aboard 110-foot cruiser M.S. Warbler of Seattle. There are 39 dancers aboard the vessel.

Pat Morris, first mate of the vessel, said everyone is invited to attend and to participate in the dancing.

The square dance is sponsored by the Victoria Y.M.C.A. and the parks board.

Continues Cruise

Mayor Claude Harrison will commplete his interrupted Vancouver Island tour aboard his yacht Yonder this week.

He had to return for City Council meeting today but plans to visit Sidney, Ganges and Fulford over the week-end.

Strike's End Hopes Higher

Island's Building Trades May Work By Monday, as Wage Agreement Nears

By DON INGHAM

Barriers that have kept striking union men and employers in the Vancouver Island and lower mainland area apart since early June today showed signs of cracking.

There is a strong possibility that all building tradesmen in Courtenay and Campbell River, jobless since carpenters went on strike June 6, will be back at work Monday.

Provincial officials of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners (T.L.C.) are now in Courtenay discussing a settlement between union locals and contractors.

It is understood settlement will be on the basis of a wage of $2.10 per hour, same as that to be voted on Monday by mainland carpenters.

Due to difficulties in reaching employer and employee representatives, a meeting planned by the Labor Relations Board for today between Victoria Builders' Exchange and the Victoria local of the carpenters' union was postponed to Monday.

Victoria carpenters went on strike June 17. Their original demand was for an increase from the pre-strike wage of $1.75 per hour to $2.50, and they have since held out for the $2.10 recommended by a majority conciliation board award.

PAINTERS VOTE

Several thousand mainland painters also may be winding up their two-month strike. Union leaders in Vancouver were expected today to order a vote by workers on a 15-cent-per-hour raise offered at a Labor Relations Board meeting called to bring striking painters and their employers together.

Victoria painters, however, foresee no break in their six-week-long strike. The union agreed to accept a conciliation board recommendation to pay $1.87 and $1.97 for brush and spray painters respectively.

Victoria Builders' Exchange and other independent painting contractors offered $1.73½ and $1.83½.

PARLEYS HERE

Resumption of negotiations between the International Woodworkers of America and two Victoria millwork plants, on strike since June 14, may follow a meeting scheduled for 3 p.m. today between the union plant committee and Crowe, Gonnason Co. Ltd. officials.

Both the Moore-Whittington Lumber Co. Ltd. millwork plant and Crowe, Gonnason mill are still on strike through a dispute on disparity of wages paid here and in Vancouver.

Negotiations between two Victoria shipyards and 12 unions holding certification have slowed down pending results of a conciliation board hearing covering shipyard wage disputes in Vancouver.

Informal talks in Victoria have continued with a marked lack of animosity between negotiating parties that are expected at this time to lead to a peaceful settlement.

FISH STORY ENDS HAPPILY

This is a fish story with an ending you'll guess after you read the first paragraph:

Harry Hill, 12, of 2647 Shelbourne, was fishing at Maple Bay Wednesday with Leslie Farrady when a big fish took the bait—and also his tackle.

Ten minutes later, Leslie caught a 10-pound ling cod. Back at camp, they cleaned the fish for supper, and, of course, in the cod's stomach they found Harry's tackle.

Rotary Hears Of Life in Polar Region

Sir Charles Wright, K.C.B., C.B., O.B.E., M.C., physicist, scientist and explorer, described life in the Antarctic at a meeting of the Rotary Club here today.

Sir Charles, a former director of the naval research for the British Admiralty, was with Scott's famous expedition to the South Pole in 1910.

The speaker used lantern slides and maps to describe the historic trek across the frozen wastes of the Antarctic.

Pictures of the polar party and their icy surroundings highlighted the account of the expedition's struggle to survive against the chilling grip of nature.

Sir Charles, who joined the Admiralty in scientific research after service as a staff officer in Europe during the First World War, was for 13 years director of scientific research on guided missiles.

CITY'S NEW OUTLET READY NEXT SUMMER

Traffic probably will roll over the first section of Victoria's new Island Highway outlet by the end of next summer if weather conditions allow normal construction.

The highway route, starting at Douglas Street and Regina Avenue and ending at the junction of Thetis Lake Road and the Island Highway, was approved Wednesday by Public Works Minister P. A. Gaglardi. Route of the second section, which extends to Langford, is still under study.

Tenders for the work will be awarded as soon as Ottawa gives final approval. This may be several days hence. Federal authorities already have approved the route, but the federal works minister must give his personal stamp of approval before tenders can be let.

Lowest tender was submitted by Campbell Bennett Ltd. It was $821,607.

A wet September would slow down construction of the new road, but with good weather work could go on until November or later.

A start on the new outlet has been delayed for nearly six weeks because of the confused government picture. Tenders were opened June 20.

Harold V. Smith, a soldier from Gordon Head Army Camp, was fined $25 in city police court today when he pleaded guilty to a charge of having driven in Victoria without a driver's license.

R.C.M.P. Leading Search For Little Sidney Girl

R.C.M.P. officers are searching isolated Porches Island, a 400-square-mile area off the mouth of the Skeena River, for a 10-year-old girl, formerly of Sidney, B.C., who disappeared Tuesday in bush country.

Missing is Evelyn Doucette, who has not been seen since she told her mother and father she was going for a stroll near their tiny cbani. She vanished into the forest.

A Canadian Press dispatch from Prince Rupert, 25 miles north of Porcher, reported today that the Doucettes were from Sidney.

A check with long-time Sidney residents, however, failed to identify the famliy positively; nor was their former address known.

Mr. Doucette took his family to Porcher for a fishing vacation, it is understood.

Two Mounties joined the search for the child Wednesday after reaching the scene by a forestry patrol vessel. An R.C.M.P. patrol boat and a police plane, carrying a constable and a search dog, were scheduled to reach the island and join the search today.

Three-year-old Michael Ferguson, son of city police officer Brian Ferguson, was fully recovered today after a frightening experience at his home Wednesday afternoon.

The little boy was playing around a shallow pool of water in his front yard at 3190 Douglas Street shortly after 2.30 p.m. when he fell in and nearly drowned.

Constable Ferguson summoned the police ambulance which rushed his child to hospital. After emergency treatment there, the boy was well enough to be released.

Japan's Red-Led Riots Big Danger

Victoria Veteran Tells of Violent Demonstrations

A 26-year-old veteran of the Korean war said here today that Communist-inspired rioting against Americans in Japan has caused a mighty dangerous situation.

Tall, Victoria-educated Lieut. Harold Murphy, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Murphy, 2675 Topp, witnessed the May Day riots in Tokyo before his return Wednesday on the troopship Frederick Funston.

A military police officer, Lieut. Murphy has spent the past 12 months in Korea and Japan, where the sight May 1 of an area "three times the size of Athletic Park" jam-packed with Communist sympathizers and Red flags drew the comment:

"It was one of the most stirring sights I have ever seen."

The Victorian said Communist rioting is no peaceable demonstration in Japan.

"They use home-made pistols, grenades and acid bombs and one of their favorite targets are the police stations."

Fortunately, he said, the non-Communists are in the majority but Red sympathizers have not yet been eradicated.

One of the big fears of the Japanese people is that they don't want to get mixed up in a world war.

Lieut. Murphy predicted a "serious depression" in Japan within ten years.

"It's a poor country as the result of the past war and one that cannot feed itself."

The Japanese people, however, have no complaints about the treatment they received at the hands of the American occupation powers.

On the contrary, said Lieut. Murphy, they think that "the American is the greatest man in the world and were amazed at the treatment by occupation troops."

Ag raduate of U.B.C., the Victoria veteran joined the provost corps three years ago.

He said one of the greatest difficulties facing military police of the U.N. forces in Korea was the fact that military laws of the varied nations forming the overall forces were completely different.

"For example, the treatment of Thailand troops for infractions we would term light are extremely severe," said Lieut. Murphy.

Execution by their own officers and the whip administered in a gauntlet of Thailand troops faces soldiers of that country if they break the rules.

He called U.S. military police a "fine outfit" and noted the co-operation Canadian M.P.'s have received from the Americans.

And the veteran had some nice things to say about the Japanese "They're a fine people."

As for Tokyo, "it's a fabulous city."

"There must be 1,000,000 night clubs there."

With Japan behind him, Lieut. Murphy plans to catch upon his golf and sailing during a 60-day leave.

LIEUT. HAROLD MURPHY
. . . For a visitor, a "fabulous" city.

FRANK BEBAN'S LAST RACE RUN

Island Sportsman Dies in Northfield Home

Frank Beban, retired lumberman and well-known island sportsman, died early today at his residence at Northfield, three miles from Nanaimo on the Island Highway.

He was probably most widely known as owner of the Emerald Stock Farm, whose green and white silks were well known at race tracks in Victoria, Vancouver and California.

Some of the best-known horses bred and raced by Mr. Beban were Sahara Chief, Truly Flo, Dolly Somers, Maisie B, the huge Flying Heir, and the well-known sire, Somers Heir.

He, retired from the timber business in the latter years of the war. In close to 40 years of work in British Columbia he operated mills and logging camps at Nanaimo, Gabriola Island, Youbou, Shawnigan Lake, Extension, and Mount Benson.

A native of New Zealand, he came to North America as a youth, landing penniless in San Francisco. He arrived in British Columbia after a period in Nevada mining camps, and got his start as an independent operator by supplying mine timber on contract to the Dunsmuir colliery interests.

He belonged to the Masons and B.P.O.E. in Nanaimo, and numerous other oroganizations. He was also well known for his support of charities, the extent of which was known only to his intimate friends.

Surviving are his wife, at home; a son, John W., and three daughters, all in Nanaimo.

You can thank my Dad for this tip.

Every once in a while I burden my family with the question, "Got any suggestions for my column?"

They usually come through with ideas and this time I think dear ol' Dad really outdid himself.

He told me to drop into a certain store in town where they had just received a de luxe type pen—de luxe in style, that is, not price.

I high-tailed it into town, wended my way to this store and found my trip had not been in vain.

Now listen to this, it's astounding. There are a string of things to be said about this new pen, but I'm sure the most fabulous is that the minute you have written with the pen you can run your hand over the ink and it won't smudge or come off on you. Isn't that wonderful. No more worries about inky hands or unsightly smears when writing.

The ink won't leak out of the pen either, and the point stays clean all the time you are writing.

It is designed so that when you push a button at the top of the pen the point disappears. Another push and it pops back into writing position.

It is priced at $1.98 and is accompanied by an unconditional guarantee. Refills are 69 pennies.

Say, I found a new craft in town. It is made here in the city for souvenirs, and I was told that it is sent to Banff for sale to tourists there.

The craft is in the shape of animals. They are basically a shaped mold and then sprayed with a composition in appropriate colors.

Some of the little animals stand alone or are attached to ash trays.

If you don't want one of these attractive figures yourself, why not send one to a friend in another city as a souvenir of your own home town.

AS WE LIVE

The Marriage Is a Fact Now No More Criticism!

By ELIZABETH B. HURLOCK, PH.D.

When a mother feels that her son has married a woman inferior to him, she can make a lot of trouble for the young people and for herself by her attitude. That is what this mother should avoid:

Hurlock

(Q)—"After two months of courtship, my son married a girl whose education is not equal to his. We like her, show understanding, and try to be nice. But she is not friendly and does not warm up. They go to her parents' home but rarely come to see us. Shall I tell her I'm not happy about our relationship, or speak to my son, or let things ride?"

(A)—Unless you want to make things so bad that they never can be patched up, avoid talking to your daughter-in-law about your feelings. She will only build up more resentment and will never have kind feelings toward you.

Talking to your son about his wife is likely to put him on the defensive and make him come to her rescue. That will not help either.

Because your daughter-in-law has not had the educational advantages of your son does not mean that she will not make him a good wife and that they will not be happy together. If her education is very inferior to his, she can increase her knowledge by reading and studying at home. Many young women do that very successfully.

Doubtless she senses your feelings about her, even if you have tried to be kind and understanding, and she resents the way you feel. That is why she and your son come to see you so little. While she is with her family, she does not feel the criticism she feels when she is with you.

From now on, why not try to heal the rift that has developed in the family? Make a point of inviting the young people to your home often and ask her family to come from time to time also. Show them that they are really welcome and that you enjoy their companionship. If you can win her family's affection, you will go a long way toward winning your daughter-in-law's affection, too.

Elizabeth Hurlock is one of the nation's greatest psychologists, and she will gladly help you with personal problems.

A good question is "why don't more men like salads?" Dr. L. B. Pett, one of Canada's top nutritionists, thinks it's because men associate salads with reducing diets—and therefore believe salads can't possibly offer a square meal. Dr. Pett says salads can provide a substantial meal, depending on how they are prepared—and whether meat, fish and other nutritious ingredients are added.

Beans with hash patties: Generous portions of pork and beans with crisp-browned patties of corned beef hash are a supper you'll savor on warm nights. It's a shelf-ready meal; just take one can of park and beans, one of hash from your cupboard. While the beans heat, fix the hash this way: Push it out of the can and cut into inch-thick slices. Wrap a slice of bacon around each patty; brown these on both sides in a skillet. Accompany the beans and hash patties with relishes for nibbling—green pepper rings and cucumber chips.

Wife of Sheffield Officer Travels on Land to Ports

Join the navy and see the world has always been a tempting slogan with that service.

Mrs. J. E. Hassard-Short agrees that it is a sound statement. She is the wife of Lieut.-Cmdr. Hassard-Short who serves in H.M.S. Sheffield, British flagship visiting this city.

When the Sheffield left its home base in Bermuda, Mrs. Hassard-Short flew to Washington, D.C., then came by bus across the continent to San Francisco and was there to greet her husband when the ship arrived.

Catching one bus and another she has traveled up the coast stopping at Seattle for the Sheffield's visit last week, and then on to this city, arriving at the same time as the ship last Friday.

When asked why she is making this trip, she replied "I feel it is too good an opportunity to miss seeing the west coast. It would be lacking in enterprise and initiative not to make the trip when it is possible."

WORKED FOR TRIP

Last summer, when the cruiser went up the east coast of America, this navy wife flew from Bermuda and by the same mode of travel, took a bus as far north as Bar Harbor, Maine.

For some months prior to her Pacific Coast trip, Mrs. Hassard-Short worked in a florist shop and gave evening lectures in home economics, her vocation in Scotland before her marriage, in order to save enough money to make the trip.

"It was more than worth it," she tells you.

Being the only wife on the trip, she has to tell her story many times a day to new acquaintances who are puzzled by her presence in the port of call.

"It really is quite funny when my husband is introduced and then the person says 'and Mrs. Hassard-Short.' You can almost see the people trying to put two-and-two together."

When the Sheffield goes to Comox Friday, Mrs. Hassard-Short will also go up-Island and then to Vancouver where the ship will be next week. With her husband she hopes to holiday for a few days at Banff. When he returns to the ship, she will carry on to Montreal, from where she will return to Bermuda.

She is enthusiastic over Canadian hospitality.

Wedding Marks Mother's Birthday

A quiet summer wedding on Monday evening in the Mission of the Good Shepherd, Prospect Lake, united Miss Rosemary Steward, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Steward, "Arrokado," Prospect Lake and Frank Pesut, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Pesut, Princeton. Rev. W. J. Godkin officiated.

White gladioli banked against the altar enhanced the beauty of the bride, who wore a full skirted white sheer redingote with wide lace inserts at the waist, over forget-me-not blue. Her blue linen cap matched dainty blue sandals. For something borrowed the bride chose an antique cameo bracelet, worn for many years by her paternal grandmother. Completing the ensemble was a corsage of sweetheart roses and stephanotis. She was given in marriage by her father. Usher was W. W. Adam.

White and peach gladioli centred the refreshment table at a reception held later at "Arrokado." The bride cut a cake made and decorated by her mother. She also cut a dainty cake, honoring her mother's birthday, which took place on the same day. The toast to the bride was proposed by W. W. Adam.

For a honeymoon to be spent traveling in the northwestern United States, Mrs. Pesut donned a dove grey shortie coat over her dress of forget-me-not blue. On their return the couple will make their home in Princeton, B.C.

Youth Rescued From Mountain Wanted Death as Lightning Hit

SEATTLE, Aug. 14 (AP).—Alan Robert Grant, 19-year-old Seattle junior mountaineer, said today he thought he wanted to die after he was struck by five bolts of lightning Sunday on the summit of Mount Stuart in the Cascades.

He was taken off the mountain by helicopter and flown to Seattle by coast guard plane today, three days after the storm injured him and killed his companion, Paul Brikoff, 20.

"We got to the summit and Paul had just signed the register when the first bolt hit. It knocked both of us over. Then the second one hit," Grant said.

"I crawled to Paul. He was lying on his back. I was trying to move him. I could only move one of my legs. Then the third bolt hit. That one was the worst. It took me up and tossed me over a 20-foot cliff and knocked me out. When I woke up, I could hear Paul on the summit screaming."

Grant said, "The heat was so great it melted the cans in my pack." The pack was on his back.

"After the third bolt I thought I wanted to die. I started hitting my head against a rock. Then I thought I might have an outside chance. Paul, he wanted to die. I think that's what helped him die. He was in much more severe pain than I."

There were two more bolts. Grant thought the fifth bolt scored a direct hit on Brikoff's back. Grant recalled attempting to shake Brikoff after he was able to move.

"It wasn't any use. He was dead," the young climber said.

Grant said he was so dazed when he recovered he forgot to get anything to eat when he collected some of his companion's personal belongings. He then made his way down a steep slope for about 60 feet seeking shelter from the storm.

Grant said he then remembered leaving his shirt at the summit. He knew he'd never survive the night without it, he said.

"So I crawled back up there. It took me about two hours to get up that 60 feet," he said.

Grant retrieved his shirt and descended 200 feet to the spot where he spent the night.

Tuesday morning he started down again and met a search party shortly after. A member of the party, Dr. Otto Trott, administered a pint of plasma to the youth and treated his burns.

After the two futile attempts Tuesday, the coast guard helicopter finally got Grant off the mountain today. A party of 11 was bringing Brikoff's body down from the summit when Grant left.

Attendants at a hospital here said Grant had third degree burns on his back and second degree burns on his right leg and thigh.

Vancouver Only City to Show June Drop in Cost of Living

OTTAWA, Aug. 14 (CP).—Living costs in seven of nine regional cities—all but Toronto and Vancouver—climbed again during June, pushed ahead mainly by higher food prices, the Bureau of Statistics reported Wednesday.

The regional cost-of-living index, based on August, 1939, prices equaling 100, remained unchanged at Toronto at 184.4, but declined by four-fifths of a point at Vancouver to 189.8 from 190.6.

Egg prices were higher at all centres, the bureau said, and meat also climbed at most points. Vegetables were higher at Winnipeg, Saskatoon and Edmonton, but lower at other points.

Here is the index on July 2, with the June 2 standing in parenthesis:

Halifax, 179.6 (179.2); Saint John, N.B., 186.4 (185.6); Montreal, 193.4 (192.5); Toronto, 184.4 (184.4); Winnipeg, 181.0 (180.6); Saskatoon, 183.0 (180.9); Edmonton, 178.5 (177.5); Vancouver, 189.8 (190.6). The index for St. John's, Nfld., based on June, 1951, prices equaling 100, increased to 103.9 from 102.7.

Two Die In Crash

FORESTVILLE, Que., Aug. 14 (CP) — Two Quebec residents were killed Wednesday when their Fleet-Canuck two-seater plane crashed on take-off at this lumber centre, 190 miles downriver from Quebec.

The dead were identified as Andre Vezina, 27, the pilot, and Alfred Gingras, 32.

The two men had left L'Ancienne Lorette airport, near Quebec, Tuesday to visit relatives here and were returning to Quebec when the accident occurred.

New York On Even Keel In Dull Trading

NEW YORK, Aug. 14 (AP).—The stock market was drowsy today with prices barely moving. Changes were mostly fractional with only an occasional issue going as much as a point higher or lower.

Business amounted to about 1,000,000 shares.

Railroads put a little life into the market, but otherwise there was a scant group action. Attention was focused on individual issues affected by corporate developments.

A good earnings report kept United Aircraft and Willys-Overland higher.

Also higher were New York Central, Atlantic Coast Line, Standard Oil (N.J.), Eastman Kodak, Homestake Mining, American Smelting, Chrysler, Douglas Aircraft and Parke-Davis.

Lower were Pennsylvania Railroad, Bethlehem Steel, Vanadium, Texas Co. and American Woolen.

Most Canadian stocks were lower. Canadian Pacific, Dome Mines, Hiram Walker and Distillers Seagrams were off ⅛. International Nickel was up ⅛, and McIntyre was unchanged.

Toronto Off

TORONTO, Aug. 14 (CP)—Stock market prices slipped today toward the close of the Toronto Stock Exchange after a session of ups and downs. Only base metals held firm.

Volume totalled about 1,900,000 shares.

In the industrial list, only papers, foods and retail stores held firm, and utilities, refining oils and manufacturing weakened. Most gains and losses were fractional. Distillers Seagrams dropped a fraction in brisk trading.

Senior golds strengthened throughout the session and only Tech Hughes slipped. Of the secondary issues, Pamour and Brewis Lake traded actively for small gains. Holding companies strengthened after a weak session but junior producers were weak.

Tower was the most active western oil, trading more than 40,000 shares for a small loss. Gains outnumbered losses throughout the list although some higher-priced issues were firm.

Montreal Steady

MONTREAL, Aug. 14 (CP)—Prices were steady to higher in dull trading near the close today on the stock exchange and curb market. Changes ranged from fractions to about a point.

Beverages, steels and banks were generally higher with plus signs showing in Walker, Dominion Bridge and Royal Bank. Carriers were unchanged.

Senior metals, senior oils, papers, utilities and miscellaneous industrials quietly balanced gains and losses. Aluminum added 1⅜ at 106⅞. Noranda and Ogilvie dipped a point to 80¾ and 36 respectively.

Mines and western oils were higher, with gains as much at 35 cents. United Asbestos improved 35 cents at $3.85, Sherritt-Gordon was up 15 cents at $5.45. Dominion Asbestos and Western Uranium gained five cents at $3.85 and $4.90. In the oils, Calvan, Del Rio and New Continental were firmer.

Vancouver Quiet

VANCOUVER, Aug. 14.—Noon Close: The stock market was quiet at Vancouver in the early session today except for interest in a handful of base metal issues and western oils. Industrials were mixed to softer.

In the mines, Quatsino was active and closed at 63, up 2; Pacific Nickel also gained in active trading to 64, up 6; western Uranium closed at $4.90.

In the oils, Charter was $2.40; Continental $2.18, up 6 and Yankee Princess $1.23.

Canadian Western Lumber closed at $9¾, off ¼.

London Strong

LONDON, Aug. 14 (Reuters).—The markets were generally bright today. Kaffirs were popular during the morning and the general turnover in London and the flow of business between London and the Cape was bigger than for some time.

German Reich bonds again featured the foreign bond market. These too suffered several bouts of profit taking but entered the afternoon at the day's best with the Dawes at 65½, the Young at 82½ and Funding 4 per cents at 59.

LONDON, Aug. 14 (AP)—Stock closings: Babcock & Wilcox 69s 3d, Boots Pure Drug 19s 1½d, Canadian Pacific $64¾, Central Mining £1⅛, Consolidated Gold Fields 44s 10½d, Courtaulds 36s 3d, Hudson's Bay Co. 214s 4½d, Imperial Chemical 44s 7½d, Imperial Tobacco 82s 6d, Metal Box 53s 9d, Mexican Eagle 22s 6d, Rand Mines 98s 9d.

BOND YIELDS

Money Mart Maze Mixes Meanings

Mr. Justice Manson in Supreme Court here recently criticized trust companies on investment policies for estates under their care.

The trustees don't "bother" to put funds under administration into higher yield bonds, his lordship was reported as saying.

Cahill

The justice's remarks illustrate the predicament of many individual and institutional investors these days caused basically by the changing value of money.

As many small holders of government bonds discovered, when interest rates, or the price of money, or the cost of borrowing (all the same thing) go up, then the price of long-term bonds bought at the lower rates goes down.

An elderly couple recently wrote to a Vancouver newspaper complaining bitterly that their 9th Victory Loan bonds bought in the last war at $100 were now selling around $95.

These particular small investors apparently believed that their investment, which they regarded as a sacred trust of their own government, had been undermined. Actually, of course, in terms of the market the yield (comprised of interest plus market price) on these Victory bonds remains the same.

When bonds in the same risk category become available at slightly higher interest rates than previously than the earlier ones must adjust to the prevailing rates. This adjustment takes place by the lower price for the $100 bond. Thus a 15-year, three per cent bond would sell at $79.07 to yield five per cent while at the same time a 15-year five per cent interest bond is selling at $100.

The holders of the lower interest investments can't sell out and buy bonds at higher rates since their holdings are now marked down. This might give the appearance of plenty of better yield bonds around. The holders of Victory bonds, for example, can only watch in anguish, it seems, as many higher interest bonds go sailing by.

In the case of trust companies, the situation seems difficult since trustees are bound, legally, to keep funds under their care in bonds prescribed by will or by the Trustee Investments Act.

NO FACTUAL CHANGE

In fact, however, the investment of holders of fixed income securities such as Victory loan bonds remains just as good and gives the same yield as any other holdings in the same risk category.

As the time for redeeming the bonds draws near, their price in the market moves up into the short money class. Thus within five years of redemption by the government the $100 Victory bonds will sell close to $100 since the creditors, the federal government, will pay the full $100 for them as promised.

Moreover, as they come into the very short money class, the lower interest rate bonds will sell at over $100 in the market place. This is an adjustment on the up side in line still with current yields as set by prevailing interest rates.

The changing price of money, as reflected in interest rates, does present, of course, short term difficulties. This is apparent, for example, in the case of banks and industrial firms who hold short term, liquid investments.

In the short run, for holders who may want to change their bonds for cash, stocks, mortgages or other forms of investment there is inconvenience. But the intrinsic merit and eventual yield of their investment remains the same relative to other types of holdings.

ISLAND ORE MOVES TO U.S. STEEL MILLS

Vancouver Island iron ore has started moving to steel mills in the United States for the first time in history.

Argonaut Iron Co. has announced that American firms have contracted to import two shiploads of ore a month for an indefinite period from the company's mine near Quinsam, Vancouver Island.

The first shipment of 10,250 tons of Island ore left last Saturday for Bethlehem Steel Co., Baltimore, mine manager Martin Broan said.

The Argonaut Company also announced shipment of Quinsam ore for the first time to Vancouver Rolling Mills.

Two other firms, Western Canada Steel Company and the Vancouver Steel Company, have completed joint arrangements to use the Island ore for steel making.

This marks the first time B.C. ore has been scheduled for processing steel in Canada.

Argonaut officials report that other ore prospects on the Island are being developed.

Bethlehem Steel, purchaser of the Island ore, has steel plants on the west coast formerly supplied with scrap and ore hauled by water from eastern mines. The company had long been regarded as a likely prospect for B.C. iron ore once mines here had been developed to the point of ensuring longer term supplies.

Sherritt-Gordon New Financing

Sherritt Gordon Mines, Ltd., has completed its financing agreement, covering $22,000,000. Eldon Brown, president, says in an interim progress report to shareholders.

The agreement is between the company and Newmont Mining Corporation, J. P. Morgan and Co., Inc., Metropolitan Life Insurance Company and 10 other banks and insurance companies. None of the money covered by the agreement will be required before November.

Newmont has been issued, for payment received, $6,000,000 principal amount of convertible debentures, and the additional $1,000,000 principal amount of these debentures will be issued in November.

The financing is in connection with Sherritt's new mining property at Lynn Lake, in northern Manitoba.

Higher British Sales Here Boost Vital Dollar Income

LONDON, Aug. 14 (AP)—Britain, cutting down in imports, brought in $812,000,000 worth of essential goods in July, nine per cent below the monthly average for the first half of 1952, the Board of Trade said today.

The report indicated the country's total exports also fell off by nine per cent. On the other hand, the vital North American hard-currency area absorbed 15 per cent more of the British products than it did on an average over the year's second quarter.

The report said the July export figures were £207,900,000; the average for the months of the second quarter was £209,300,000.

The report said North America got £25,400,000 worth of goods from Britain in July and credited the increase largely to higher exports to Canada.

Exports to the United States held firm at £12,000,000.

Antihistamines May Stop Itching Hives

BY EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.

Many correspondents have written to this column asking about the uncomfortable allergic disease known as urticaria or hives. This is one of those conditions which is brought about by sensitivity to some substance to which most people can come in contact without causing difficulty.

Hives usually arises suddenly with the appearance of large red spots on the skin. These bumps may appear almost anywhere on the body, but are quite likely to involve a good portion of the skin covering.

They look reddish and swollen and are almost always associated with severe itching, which brings with it an irresistible desire to scratch.

Many substances can produce hives, but strawberries and certain fish foods like crabmeat have been particularly often incriminated in this respect.

However, urticaria can develop from almost any food, drug and from such other things as insect bites, furs, infections or even just heat or cold. The urticaria can last for a few hours only or for days, weeks or even months at a time.

The proper line of attack on hives is to try to determine the cause. Unfortunately, the skin of many people with hives does not react to testing with the substance which causes the disease. This is perhaps because they are sensitive to the offending substance when swallowed, but not when applied to the skin.

Trial diets and other means of determining the cause may have to be tried, therefore. If the cause can be discovered, the proper treatment is to remove it by cutting it out of the diet or by eliminating whatever is responsible.

The one bright spot in treatment which has been developed in recent years is the use of certain drugs going under the name of "antihistamines." Several of these substances are on the market under various names.

Each of them has certain advantages and certain disadvantages and should not be taken except under competent medical advice. They do not cure the underlying condition, but frequently bring relief from the itching and improvement in the appearance of the skin sometimes for hours at a time.

CAUSE MUST BE FOUND

Until the cause of all cases can be discovered and removed, these antihistamine agents will prove extremely useful in bringing relief to those who cannot be helped by other measures.

When the cause cannot be discovered, however, which is all too often, the treatment is difficult indeed. There is nothing which can be put on the surface of the skin which will make the urticaria disappear. Even the itching can be only partially relieved while the urticaria is present.

Victoria Will Fight $9,000 Arena Claim

City of Victoria advised the Supreme Court at Vancouver today that it will fight Charles T. Hamilton's suit against the corporation for $9,212.

Mr. Hamilton, former consulting engineer on Memorial Arena, filed suit for the unpaid portion of his services.

No action will be taken yet on the city's plans for a counter-suit of $10,000, A. J. Patton, city solicitor said.

"The next move is up to Mr. Hamilton," he said. "He must file a statement of claim."

The city some months ago refused payment of the balance of Mr. Hamilton's bill on grounds that the engineer had not fulfilled his contract completely with the city.

80 One-Hour Meters Being Installed Here

Eighty new one-hour parking meters are now being installed on city streets, Robert Doble, traffic engineering assistant, said today.

New meter posts have been erected on View, Gordon and Courtney Streets. Others will follow.

Forty 12-minute meters will be installed within three weeks, Mr. Doble said. They will be spotted at "strategic points around town," he added.

Some will be put in by the old Post Office on Courtney Street, but will be moved when postal personnel move to the new building at Government and Yates.

A quicker turnover of parking spaces is anticipated with the new 12-minute meters, Mr. Doble said.

Truck Ditched by Triple Pass; Offending Vehicle Speeds on

A three-car crash with possibly serious consequences was narrowly avoided on Craigflower Road, beside Gorge Vale Golf Club, shortly before 8 a.m. Wednesday.

A light truck, driven by Don Kennedy, was pulling out to pass a sedan driven by C. Stokes when a third car elected to pass the other two.

In doing so, it clipped the truck on the right front fender, sent it spinning across the road in front of Stokes' sedan, and the truck bounced in and out of the ditch.

Stokes managed to swing his car to the left-hand side of the road while the truck narrowly missed a telephone pole.

Meanwhile the third car sped on its way. Neither Mr. Stokes nor Mr. Kennedy could catch its license number or description. But both were willing to award the title "worst driver" to the occupant.

Wants Present Road Outlet Maintained

Premier W. A. C. Bennett has been asked by Miss Hellen Straith, 3715 Belgrave Road, to widen and straighten the existing Island Highway outlet from Victoria instead of building another over new country.

In a letter to the premier, Miss Straith said she discovered after taking a petition to the Portage Inlet area, that the general opinion of residents is:

"Keep the Trans-Canada Highway on the present Island Highway."

She said people deplore the "extravagant expenditure of money on roads when the present roads adequately widened and properly surfaced are quite sufficient for the needs."

Magistrate Dislikes Bare-Chested Prisoner

OTTAWA, Aug. 14 (BUP).—Police today shopped for a utility-sized shirt after Magistrate Joachim Sauve scolded them because they took a bare-chested prisoner into his court.

Police arrested Stanley Lang, of Ottawa, during a fight and didn't give him time to don his shirt or shoes. Sauve fined Lang $15 and told the police department to keep an extra shirt around for emergencies.

Hungary Elects Rakosi Premier

BUDAPEST, Hungary, Aug. 14 (AP).—Matyas Rakosi, secretary-general of the Hungarian Communists and undisputed boss of this Soviet-sphere country, today was elected premier by the Hungarian parliament. He had held the post of vice-premier.

Istvan Dobi, former premier and member of the Smallholders' Party, resigned, the speaker of the House announced. He then was given the job of president. (The job is a figurehead position in all Communist countries.)

Sandor Roni, who had been president of parliament's presidium, the highest authority in the country, also resigned. He had been the last representative of the former Social Democrats in Hungarian political life.

Gordon Head Driver Leads Army Contest

A Gordon Head army gunner placed top with 277 points Wednesday in driving tests held at Macauley Point.

Awarded a trophy by Lieut.-Col. A. Perron was Gnr. G. O. Bennett, 119 A.A. Battery.

Close behind were R.C.E.M.E. craftsmen M. D. Simonin, W. J. Hollier and J. A. Reid with 273, 272.1 and 272 points respectively.

The four drivers will represent the Esquimalt garrison in area finals to be held at Vancouver next week. The tests consisted of various obstacle courses driven in a regulation 60 cwt. army truck.

The competition was organized by Capt. J. D. Power.

15 Superfort Crew Members Safely Leap Near Spokane

SPOKANE, Wash., Aug. 14 (AP)—All 15 crew members parachuted to safety early today from a stricken B-29 Superfort just before it crashed and burned about 65 miles southwest of here.

The flyers, who bailed out in darkness over sparsely-settled farming country, were located by farmers who scoured the area with flashlights.

Fairchild air force base said the pilot ordered all members of his crew to jump after the plane developed engine trouble.

Base officials did not disclose names or whether there were any injuries to the crew attached to the 111th strategic reconnaissance wing at Fairchild.

Alaska Fisherman Found Dead on Boat

QUEEN CHARLOTTE CITY, B.C., Aug. 14 (BUP).—A small fishing boat, carrying the body of a dead man, was towed into Queen Charlotte City on Queen Charlotte Island Wednesday, after an R.C.M.P. patrol plane had spotted the boat drifting in the waters off Cape Bell.

The boat was towed into the port by an air force launch.

The air force said the body of a 57-year-old Alaska fisherman from Ketchikan was found in the cabin. The man, who was not identified, had apparently died of a heart attack.

Railroad War

'HE STARTED AND GREW PALE'

Story of Royal Name In New Book on King

LONDON, Aug. 14 (CP)—How Britain's royal family came to be called the Windsors is disclosed today in a book about King George V written by Harold Nicolson, well-known author and critic.

The book says that when the King learned in 1917 there was a rumor that he must be pro-German because the family had German names, "he started and grew pale."

His secretary, Lord Stamfordham, conceded that members of the royal family bore names of Teutonic origin. Experts were unable to answer the question: What is the King's surname? It was not Stewart or Guelph; it might be "Wipper" or "Wettin."

Various names were suggested — Tudor, Stewart, Plantagenet, York, England, Lancaster, D'Este, Fitzroy. Then Lord Stamfordham remembered that Edward III had been called Edward of Windsor—the name which the present Queen recently chose to keep in preference to Mountbatten.

Lord Stamfordham was congratulated and told that the suggestion was something "to be historically proud of."

Nicolson's 570-page study is entitled "King George V: His Life and Reign" (Constable). As reflected in reviews by newspaper critics, here are some sidelights on the man who ruled from 1910 to 1936:

PICTURE WAS ACCURATE

The Times: "This thorough and carefully composed study shows that the popular picture of King George formed by his subjects was accurate. He was a man without guile who brought a disinterested judgment and a remarkably retentive memory to the service of his country and of his Commonwealth."

Evening Standard: ". . . The bullied cadet (who) lived to know more about government than any minister."

News Chronicle: "(He was) the King who knew his job. He rarely made an error of judgment; and he was sometimes right when ministers were wrong."

Daily Mirror: "History will see in George V the epitome of a stubborn dictator in his own home who at all times was willing to sacrifice his own personal comfort for the good of his people."

The Mirror, quoting from the book, notes that the King was human enough to write in his diary after a French visit: "Went to see 'Occupe-Toi D'Amelie,' the hottest thing I have ever seen on the stage . . . bed at 3.30."

Violent Robbery Doesn't Pay Off

BURNABY, B.C., Aug. 14 (BUP)—Two youths were convicted in Burnaby police court Wednesday on a joint charge of robbery with violence, involving a small amount of cash, a watch and a pair of shoes.

Walter Gee and Donald Callow, both 22 and of no fixed address, were to be sentenced later for the robbery with violence of Yukon miner Herman Egli in North Burnaby early this week.

Two men and two girls took Egli to an isolated street after a drinking bout, forced him from the car and beat him. They took about $2.00, a $15 watch and Egli's shoes, so he couldn't follow. But Egli got the car license number, trudged manfully to the nearest home and phoned the police. The car soon was stopped in Vancouver and the men arrested.

A man who specializes in the theory and practice of field crop production and soil management is called an agronomist.

Catholic Congress for Toronto

TORONTO, Aug. 14 (CP) — University students from 50 countries meet here next week for the 22nd World Congress of Pax Romana. The meeting of the international organization of Roman Catholic students and cultural leaders is being held in Canada for the first time.

The congress meets in Toronto Aug. 18-24 and moves on to Ottawa where delegates will be received by Prime Minister St. Laurent. Health Minister Martin will address the communion breakfast after mass. The week of Aug. 25-30 will be spent in Montreal, where largest assemblies are to be held, with an expected attendance of 1,700. Delegates then go to Quebec, where they take part in the Laval centenary, and later to Ste. Anne de Beaupre.

The congress has for its theme the role of the University. Delegates will study means of promoting the aims of Pax Romana, "which are the building up of a Christian culture, and the union of Catholic students and intellectual leaders of the world in a spirit of universal charity, understanding and co-operation."

Dr. F. James, lecturer at Toronto's St. Michael's College and joint chairman of the congress, said in an interview Wednesday: "Pax Romana is going to study practical matters with reference to overseas students and attempt to widen the set-up for exchange of students between different countries."

BRIDGE LESSON
by Oswald Jacoby

Just about two months ago Carl Erskine of the Brooklyn Dodgers pitched a no-hit game against the Chicago Cubs. This, curiously enough, was news for this column.

You see, it rained at the end of the third inning, and the game was held up. So Erskine went to the clubhouse to relax until the game could be resumed. What else would he do there but play bridge?

I don't know whether or not Carl is as good at bridge as he is at pitching, but one of the hands he played, shown here today, would stand up in any big league bridge game.

Erskine and Billy Cox got to four hearts against Ralph Branca and Duke Snider. Branca led the singleton diamond, and Erskine won with the ace.

What next? Erskine could count five trump tricks, two diamonds, and two black aces. Where was the tenth trick?

Branca's spade bid indicated that both the spade and the club finesse would fail. The opening lead looked like a singleton. A pretty grim situation, but Erskine pitched his way out of it very neatly.

He drew three rounds of trumps, and then laid down the ace and queen of spades.

Branca won with the king of spades, naturally, but was then up a tree. If he continued spades, dummy's ten would set up; and if he shifted to clubs, Erskine would get a free finesse.

Erskine was so pleased with this hand that he went right out on the field, a minute or so later, and pitched no-hit ball for the next six innings.

Now, I wonder what was going on in the Chicago clubhouse while Erskine and his buddies were getting ready for a no-hit performance by playing bridge? D'you suppose the Cubs were playing Canasta?

IN TUNE WITH THE TIMES

By RON BAIRD

A project designed to combine the talents of radio writers, producers and engineers for the presentation of programs on major Commonwealth issues has been worked out at a conference in London.

The first program will discuss the Colombo Plan.

The idea for the series was worked out by delegates from Australia, Canada, Ceylon, Great Britain, India, New Zealand, Pakistan and South Africa.

The conference sat to discuss different aspects of broadcasting and decide on the methods by which the radio organizations of the Commonwealth could co-operate to the best advantage.

Delegates agreed that closer integration in the field of news and use of radio correspondents would be both useful and possible.

Television, including the possibility of future TV transcription programs, was thoroughly discussed but it was considered advisable that such transcription programs should be produced by the broadcasting organizations of the Commonwealth countries and not by outside concerns. They could then be exchanged within the Commonwealth as TV services were introduced.

Steps were taken to ensure greater effectiveness of Commonwealth external broadcasting.

A closer co-ordination of schedules was suggested, and the short-wave frequency position, as it affected all the countries represented, was studied.

The third Commonwealth Broadcasting Conference is expected to be held about 1955.

Tonight . . . on KIRO, the Steve Allen Show at 6.30—high humor and fun among a studio audience with New York comedian Steve Allen; F.B.I. in Peace and War at 9—top-rate crime drama based on files from the Federal Bureau of Investigation; the Peggy Lee Show at 9.45—songs and music . . . on KOMO, Nightbeat at 7—the adventures of reporter Randy Stone; A Life in Your Hands at 8.30—crime drama based on stories by Erle Stanley Gardner; Dragnet at 9, a superior crime drama based on true cases from the Los Angeles police department; The Chase at 9.30—mystery.

Play Begins Today In Americas Cup Matches

SEATTLE, Aug. 14 (AP)—Two national amateur champions and other top golfers from Mexico, Canada and the United States teed off today at the Seattle Golf Club in the inauguration of the Americas Cup matches.

The event, in which seven-man teams from the three North American countries compete, precedes the United States national amateur championship matches which open Monday over the same course.

The two-day battle for the cup donated by Jerome Bowles, Jr., Chicago, began with a six-some, two men from each country followed by two other six-somes.

In the afternoon round each partnership plays one ball, opposing two other pairs. Friday's rounds will be played in threes, with a representative from each country in each trio.

National amateur champions are Alejandro Cumming, Mexico, and Walt McElroy of Vancouver.

Bill Mawhinney, 1950 Canadian amateur champion, was scheduled to play but a back injury which has been bothering him forced his withdrawal. He has been replaced by Phil Farley of Toronto, the team captain who was not scheduled to compete.

Billy Maxwell, the U.S. amateur champion, will arrive too late to participate and has been replaced by Harvie Ward Jr., 1951 Walker cupper and British amateur champion from Tarboro, N.C.

Others on the U.S. team are Sam Urzetta, East Rochester, N.Y.; playing captain Charlie Coe, Oklahoma City; Frank Stranahan, Toledo; Ken Venturi, San Francisco, and Joe Gagliardi, Mamaroneck, N.Y.

Canadians are McElroy, Farley, Jerry Kesselring, of Kitchener, Ont.; Nick Weslock, Windsor, Ont.; Percy Clogg, Vancouver, and Peter C. Kelly of Fredericton.

Golfer Breaks Marathon Mark

KENOSHA, Wis., Aug. 14 (AP)—Fred (Monk) Moeller, making his shots while automobile spotlights played on the fairways, shot his 217th consecutive hole of golf early Wednesday to break a 29-year-old marathon record.

Nearly out on his feet after 22 hours and 24 minutes of walking over the Maple Crest Country Club, the 35-year-old Moeller finished his tour with a 951 total. That was six strokes better than the mark set by Dan Kenney and Willie Lundberg of Tyler, Tex., in 1923. Moeller's best 18-hole round was 75. The record-smashing hole was the 470-yard No. 1 where he took a six.

Moeller and his caddy climbed into a car and were taken back to the clubhouse for tea, brandy and a hot shower.

Moller walked more than 60 miles over the 6,145-yard course.

RACING BACK NEXT YEAR COUNCIL TOLD

Ald. Skillings Says Randall Is Confident

Victoria will have horse racing next year, Ald. Waldo Skillings told city council today.

He reported speaking with S. W. Randall in Vancouver last week and the latter said: "Victoria will have racing next year, even if we have to use the Sidney track. We have to bring racing back to Vancouver Island. There has been tremendous pressure for it."

The Randall racing interests built two tracks at Sidney several years ago—after Oak Bay voted out the Willows track. One was to be used for racing and the other for training.

But no move was ever made to get racing started. There is no grandstand yet.

Mr. Randall, in interviews on the subject, has stated that until the new highway to Patricia Bay airport is completed, he did not think people could get out to the race track.

Completion of the highway improvement is set for late this year.

While Victoria has had no racing since the Willows was shut down four years ago, several attempts have been made to get a new rack under way, without success up to now.

Meanwhile, the charter for two weeks' racing in Victoria has been transferred each year to the mainland tracks (Lansdowne and Exhibition Park), giving them a longer season than they would otherwise have under their own charters.

U.S. Has Bare Edge in Cup Golf

SEATTLE, Aug. 14 (AP)—The United States had a bare edge over Canada and Mexico today after the first nine holes in the opening match of the Americas Cup international golf competition.

At the first turn of the 36-hole, six-some matches, two of three U.S. pairs led their Mexican rivals and one was trailing. Against Canada, one U.S. team, Harvie Ward of Tarboro, N.C., and Ken Venturi of San Francisco, had the lead. The other two matches were even.

CANADIAN DOWNED, BELIEVED PRISONER BEHIND RED LINES

OTTAWA, Aug. 14 (CP)—A Canadian army officer flying an artillery observation plane was shot down two miles behind Communist lines in Korea Wednesday and apparently taken prisoner, defense headquarters reported today.

He is Capt. Joseph Michael Liston, 32, of Ottawa and Shilo, Man., a former Royal Air Force pilot who went to Korea two weeks ago as an artillery officer.

The army said he was seen to parachute after reporting by radio that the aircraft had been hit. An effort was made to rescue him by helicopter but it was driven back by enemy fire.

Beacon Hill Sea Pool Advocated

Ald. Macmillan Proposes Natural Water Swimming Tank for Citizens and Tourists

A warm-water swimming pool at Horeshoe Bay, on the Beacon Hill Park seashore, was proposed today by Ald. Robert Macmillan.

He said he will ask public works committee meeting next Thursday to authorize a survey of the bay and preparation of an estimate of cost.

The plan as envisioned calls for construction of a breakwater and gates enclosing the mouth of the bay. (See picture above.)

The water would be let in the gates and allowed to warm. Without the ever-changing tides, the water will remain comparatively warm, Ald. Macmillan said. Opening and closing of the gates would change the swimming water.

"Victoria does not have a single warm water swimming beach," he stated.

For years there has been talk of improvements to Victoria's rock-strewn Dallas shoreline, but no action has been taken.

A preliminary survey of such a pool was made by the public works department about 10 years ago, according to Cyril Jones, city engineer.

It was a rough working plan, dated 1943, but there was no estimate of cost as council took no further action.

Two sketches were made, Mr. Jones said. One provided a pool by 180 by 180, the other for one of 160 feet by 140. Mouth of the bay is approximately 160 feet across.

"There is certainly no harm in ivestigating costs," said Ald. Macmillan.

The steep descent from the park path to Horseshoe Bay is a disadvantage but the area is a "natural" for an enclosed pool project if costs are not prohibitive, the alderman said.

He did not feel costs should be too high.

If the Horseshoe Bay plan is found not feasible, Ald. Macmillan suggests an alternate survey of Holland Point. He believes this area could be bulldozed out and a swimming pool installed.

MEDALIST, CHAMPION TO CLASH

Feature Match in Tomorrow's Play

Medalist Ed Eisenhower of Tacoma and defending champion Ralph Whaley of Seattle will meet in the featured semi-final match of the Seniors' Northwest Golf Association tournament Friday at Victoria Golf Club.

Eisenhower fired birdies on the 13th, 14th and 16th today to defeat Dr. Oscar Willing of Portland 4 and 2. Whaley advanced to the semi-finals with a 4 and 3 victory over Roy Campbell of Seattle.

MUSGRAVE WINS

Arthur Musgrave, Oak Bay municipal engineer, kept Canadian hopes alive with a 5 and 3 victory over Fred Davis of Seattle.

Musgrave meets Roger Peck of Tacoma in Friday's other semi-final match.

Peck was forced to the 18th hole before eliminating Ralph Parker of Portland today, one up.

Whaley is bidding for his eighth seniors title in nine years, while Eisenhower, present Washington State seniors champion, has yet to win the coveted award.

For Musgrave, today's victory marks the fourth time that he has gained the semi-final round. Roger Peck is a newcomer to seniors tournament play this year.

The 18-hole final for the Barnard Cup will take place Saturday morning at Victoria Golf Club.

Brownies Send Garver To Detroit in Swap

Eight Players Involved in Biggest Waiver Deal in Years; Wertz Will Join St. Louis

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 14 (AP)—Ned Garver, the first 20-game winner for a last-place major league club in 28 years, was swapped today by the St. Louis Browns to the Detroit Tigers for outfielder Vic Wertz in an eight-player waiver deal.

In on the deal bound for Detroit are outfielders Jim Lenhardt and pitchers Marlin Stuart and Dick Littlefield traveled from the Tigers to the Browns, also on waivers.

A Rookie Brownie pitcher, Bud Black, was handed Detroit in the deal from San Antonio, Brownie farm.

Announcement of the Garver-Wertz shift today completed the waiver deal—a strange transaction which enables clubs to shift personnel after the July 15 trading deadline. The Browns called today's deal the largest waiver negotiations in baseball history.

Detroit, eighth in the league, and the Browns, seventh, have clear shots at players placed on the waiver lists. As the low teams in the standings they have first choice and the other clubs just give their formal blessing.

The Wertz-Garver-Delsing-Madison portion of the deal was held up as the Browns and Detroit waited for the other league members to pass on the players.

Village Near Lillooet Surrounded By Flames

Forest Fighter Killed, Another Missing In Burns Lake Area; Wind Saved Tintagel

From CP Dispatches

The tiny settlement of Moha, 20 miles northwest of Lillooet, was almost surrounded by forest fire today and the some 100 residents prepared to evacuate.

The Yalakom lumber mill in the village was destroyed by fire, touching off the roaring blaze in nearby woods.

Every able-bodied man in the community was called out to battle the flames. Women and children started to gather belongings together to evacuate if necessary.

Moha is situated in the forest-covered valley of the Yalakom River, about 180 miles north of Vancouver.

Only a sketchy report on the fire was received here by radio. There is no telephone communication with Moha.

The raging, uncontrolled Burns Lake forest fire in the Cariboo region meanwhile has claimed a fire fighter's life and another is reported missing.

Harold Gordon, 40, father of five children, was burned to death Wednesday night or early this morning.

The missing man is tentatively identified as "Hunter."

It was the first fatality of the fire season.

Gordon apparently was trapped in the fire in the Tintagel area, 10 miles east of Burns Lake, when that section of the blaze became completely out of control and burned through a logging camp.

Seven men were missing for several hours, but five were located later unharmed.

Nearly 200 fire fighters are in the area. Today they are reorganizing for another attack on the blaze, which started Sunday and has developed into the province's worst forest fire of the year.

There are 148 reported fires in the province, 32 new ones since Wednesday. More than 1,200 men are fighting them.

At Kelowna, hundreds of persons thronged the beaches of Okanagan Lake Wednesday night to watch flames devour 1,500 acres of forest on Blue Grouse Mountain, eight miles away.

A 1,000-acre fire, meanwhile, continued to sweep ahead at Mosher Creek in the Bella Coola valley, inland about mid-way between Vancouver and Prince Rupert.

Forest rangers were maintaining a close aerial watch over the rugged area but reports indicated it would be impossible to battle the flames from the ground.

PRINCE ROBERT HOUSE SALE RECOMMENDED

Sale of Prince Robert House to a Victoria syndicate was recommended to City Council today by Ald. Arthur Dowell, chairman of the city's lands committee.

The syndicate, comprising Victoria business men, plans to demolish the building and erect a modern block of stores similar to Woodward's store here.

The offer is less than the $48,000 made by Woodward's store interests some time ago.

Three Known Dead in Fire

GUELPH, Ont., Aug. 14 (BUP) —Three persons were known dead and at least 60 homeless today following an apartment-house fire that threatened for a time to wipe out a street in downtown Guelph.

Police said the victims of the $250,000 blaze were an elderly grandmother and her two grandchildren with whom she was baby-sitting while their suburbanite parents went out Wednesday night.

They were identified as Mrs. Eva McCullough, 65; seven-year-old David Nichol and his two-year-old sister, Bonnie.

Vancouver Stocks Closing Prices

Some interest cropped up in base metals. Quatsino, active, closed at 63. Beaver Lodge closed at $1.55, off 5. Van Roi was off 2 at 10c. Pacific Nickel shaded up to 64c.

Among industrials, Coast Breweries at $3.70, up 10, registered the only advance.
